CIO Sea Parley Deadlock Seen

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP) — Top men of the CIO's potent National Maritime Union headed into a council of war today. As AFL seamen filtered back to their ships still talking of expanding their sample tieup into a full-dress walkout, members of the NMU's national council from 40 ports convened for a strike strategy session here. They possess a $1,000,000 strike chest, the support of six other unions allied in the Committee for Maritime Unity (CMU)—and the signs were ominous.

Nearly 48 hours had passed since the last word of progress from the conciliation conference on which the government is pinning its hopes to stave off CMU's scheduled strike eight days hence.

It began to look like a deadlock. And reminders of the bitter, sometimes violent rivalry between CIO and AFL for control of the waterfronts surged up in the wake of AFL's stop-work meetings in 30 cities yesterday.

In New York, members of the AFL Seafarers International Union and its chief affiliate, the Sailors Union of the Pacific, voted to conduct a strike poll at once. They denounced the CIO-dominated CMU as "Communist-dominated."

In most cities the men returned to work, but in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle, for instance, they decided to hold daily meetings and accompanying work stoppages until employers open wage talks.

At the AFL Seamen's headquarters in San Francisco, President Harry Lundeberg said his men, "hot to strike," want immediate negotiations with their employers. The employers' spokesmen are in Washington standing by for the CMU and conciliation conferences.

Lundeberg denounced the latter as a "three-ring political circus" and said his men would not be bound by any decisions made in Washington.

Some Labor Dept. men thought the AFL demonstration walkouts were bids for attention to Lundeberg's own demands; one irritated official said privately they might have been meant to "harpoon" the meetings here.

The men Lundeberg wants to talk to—J. B. Bryan and Gregory Harrison, president and attorney, respectively, of the Pacific-American Shipowners Ass'n — were scheduled for conciliation meetings today with the West Coast's CIO Engineers, CIO Cooks and Stewards, and the independent firemen's union.

Because Joseph Curran, president of the NMU, was to be tied up with his National Council session all day, negotiations for the East Coast were set for tonight.

FRED M. VINSON
Named Chief Justice

John W. Snyder John L. Sullivan

Truman Choices Set for Speedy Senate Approval

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—President Truman's choice of Fred M. Vinson for Chief Jutice of the United States and of John W. Snyder for Secretary of the Treasury prompted predictions today of speedy Senate approval.

"There will be no difficulty," Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado, told reporters. Others echoed that forecast.

And the same word went out for the advancement of John L. Sullivan from assistant to undersecretary of the Navy, also announced by Mr. Truman.

Vinson's and Snyder's selections for two of the highest posts in the land came in for considerable criticism, however, from Republicans and from pro-labor, New Deal Democrats. But none indicated a disposition to fight confirmation.

Privately, some New Dealers said they would have preferred to see what they described as a "more liberal" man nominated as chief justice. They count Vinson as pretty much a "middle-of-the-roader" in political philosophy, although some old line Democrats look on him as inclined to the left of center.

As for Snyder, the New Dealers are openly at odds with him. They ascribe chiefly to his influence as reconversion director the firmer White House attitude toward organized labor in recent weeks.

Few Republicans had anything critical to say of the nominees themselves, but they were patently disappointed that the President did not nominate a member of their party to the Supreme Court.

For years, it was more or less a tradition that the bench should be kept in political balance.

During President Roosevelt's tenure of office, however, the division came down to seven Democrats and two Republicans. With confirmation of Vinson, it will be eight Democrats and one Republican.

Moslem OK of British Plan Paves Way for Free India

NEW DELHI, June 7 (AP)—The way to Indian independence appeared open today, the last block apparently removed by the Moslem League Council's acceptance of a British cabinet mission plan for a federated union of India.

Even though the league's "unalterable" stand for eventual establishment of a separate Moslem state of Pakistan was reiterated, the council directed Mahomed Ali Jinnah, league president, to negotiate at once with Viceroy Lord Wavell for Moslem participation in the interim central government.

The Council for the League, which claims to speak for 90,000,000 Moslems in India, said its approval of the cabinet plan was "prompted by its earnest desire for a peaceful solution, if possible, of the Indian problem," but preserved the right to advise secession of Moslem groups from any federation resulting from the plan.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, a leader of the All-India Congress Party, India's other major political party, previously had spoken approvingly of the British proposals, and a spokesman for representatives of the foremost princes of India said the princes also were "quite willing to come into the framework of an independent India."

Royal Gem Loot Up to U. S. Army

KRONBERG, Germany, June 7 (AP)—The Countess von Hessen, 74-year-old granddaughter of Queen Victoria, said today the House of Hesse was assured by U. S. Army personnel last year stolen crown jewels worth $1,500,000 were in safe American hands.

The straight-backed countess said in an interview her family had known when the treasure was dug up from a basement floor in Kronberg castle, requisitioned as an Army officers' club, seven months ago.

"We were told the jewels had been taken to the room of an American officer and were in safe hands," she added. "Did Americans take them? Americans were in charge of the castle. Who else?"

A later inquiry by the Hesse family brought assurance the jewels had been turned over to military authorities in Frankfurt, the countess said. But when her daughter-in-law, Princess Sophie of Hesse, asked for their return two months ago they could not be found.

A tardy Army announcement yesterday said merely investigation had disclosed the jewels were removed Nov. 6 from the castle basement, but all personnel who might have knowledge of the incident had returned to the U. S.

The countess, interviewed at her cottage near the castle, said she did not know whether the jewels —considered the largest item in the family fortune—were insured.

"My manager would handle that," she said.

Although the House of Hesse still owns four large castles, "they are all taken by the Americans and I have only this one room," the countess complained.

"I have not set foot in the castle since the Americans came. Why? They don't want me."

The countess said all her family, including three sons now prisoners of war, had been members of the National Socialist party and she had entertained Hitler at her home even before he seized power.

"I didn't mix in politics," she insisted as she still praised "the fuehrer."

"Hitler did so much good for the people in the beginning," she said. "After that, I don't know what happened. Perhaps he had bad advice."

400 Flee, 6 Felled At Springfield Fire

SPRINGFIELD, June 7—About 400 persons including many women, were driven to the street in their night clothes early today, and six firemen were overcome by smoke during a stubborn two-alarm fire in a basement storage room of the four-story Bridgway Hotel in the downtown section. Several women carried babies to safety. Deputy Fire Chief Frederick C. Wright said no smoke rose to the upper floors and there was no general excitement until women guests reached the lobby.

The six firemen, all reported in critical condition from an acrid smoke which penetrated their gas masks, are Ernest Ruhe, 56; James Leonard, 27; Thomas Hoar, 33; Henry O'Connell, 43; Charles E. Dodge, 33, and Dellio Cazavilan, 37.

Unable to get into the basement because of the intense heat and heavy smoke, firemen used pneumatic drills to cut holes in the lobby floor to combat the blaze. The six taken to the hospital were overcome when they were lowered into the basement through the floor holes. The storage room, to which the blaze was confined, contained mattresses, linens, furniture and cleaning fluids.

Guests, notified of the fire by the night clerk and by police knocking on doors, left the building by stairways, elevators and fire escapes. Two bellboys, Zachery Bass and Wendell Wright, discovered the fire and notified the manager, E. C. Cohlman.

Jerry Berube, night clerk, telephoned the first alarm to headquarters, then remained at the switchboard until calls had been made to all of the hotel's 225 rooms.

The switchboard jacks became so hot while Berube was making his calls he had to wrap his hands in handkerchiefs, firemen said.

A 10-year-old boy, grandson of Al Caroly, well known boxing promoter in western Massachusetts, was discovered asleep in his room by his father and police a half hour after firemen arrived.

Deputy Chief Wright reported it was the second blaze in the hotel in a little more than a year. The first fire drove 275 guests to the street and caused $125,000 damage.

$50,000 Fire in Vacant San Francisco Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7 (INS)—Fire Chief Albert Sullivan estimated today $50,000 damage had been done by a flash fire last night in an unused San Francisco hotel.

The blaze caused one casualty—Oscar Aschim, 56-year-old janitor-caretaker, who received burns in both arms and body.

An unidentified woman, who for some unexplained reason found her way into the otherwise unoccupied building, was rescued by firemen then vanished into a crowd of onlookers.

REFUSED DIVORCE — Mrs. Jennifer Bruce Gould, pretty wife of Jay Gould, 3d, grandson of the late railroad builder, appears in Los Angeles Superior Court where she was refused a divorce. She told the court her husband loved her too demonstratively.

Gets 1st GI Phone Call From Berlin

When the telephone rang at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baker, of Jefferson st., South End, Mrs. Baker hadn't the slightest idea she was to be on the receiving end of the first phone call from a GI in Germany.

Sgt. Baker

The caller was her son, S-Sgt. Leonard Baker, 19, who is in Berlin with the 16th Construction Squadron. His mother hadn't spoken with him for six months. Mrs. Baker was so thrilled she was nearly overcome. Leonard spoke for three minutes.

"Three minutes like that are worth all of $12," she said. "Lenny wanted most of all to hear news of his dad, who has been ill. He said he was lonely, but happy to be in the Army while there is still much work to be done."

Kentucky Widow of 79 To Wed 18-Yr.-Old Boy

LOUISA, Ky., June 7 (AP)—Lawrence County Clerk W. H. Moore said he expected to issue today a marriage license asked by a 79-year-old widow, Mrs. Mattie Lyons Large, and an 18-year-old neighboring youth, Delbert (Shorty) Sprouse, both of Gladys, near here.

The clerk added Sprouse called for the license yesterday, but was refused because he had left at home written permission of his parents.

Moore said the youth told him he would call for the license today and he might bring along his wife-to-be and be married here.

Dr. J. E. Carter, who took the blood test of the couple, said Mrs. Large's marriage would cut off her $13 monthly old age pension.

He described her as a gray-haired woman, a little taller than Shorty. He said she was reluctant to talk about the romance or wedding plans, but said, "We'd been talking it over lately and decided to get married."

Mrs. Large admitted she "hadn't thought of that" when officials told her that marriage would automatically cancel her old-age pension, but added they had "thought it over long enough" and decided to carry out their plans.

Dr. Carter said Mrs. Large first gave her age as 40 when she and Sprouse called at his office.

"I asked her whether she wanted me to put down what I thought or would she tell me her age," the physician added. "Then she said she was 79."

Moore said Mrs. Large voiced disapproval of "new fangled laws" which require premarital blood tests.

A widow for 17 years, she has seven living children and 49 grandchildren, the youngest of whom is the same age as her husband-to-be, Moore said.

The Large and Sprouse families have occupied adjoining farms for several years.

School Puts K.O. on Seniors' 'Drunkenest Party' Plans

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 7 (AP)—Plans for a drinking party by some seniors of the Fort Hill High School were disclosed in a letter written by Principal Victor D. Heisey to parents.

A school official said a typewritten program had been intercepted concerning the planned party to celebrate graduation.

The outline of the planned celebration, which was unsigned, said the private party was planned at a Cumberland inn and would "likely prove the drunkenest, most disgraceful and most talked about party ever put on by a graduating class."

School officials said that some seniors at other Cumberland high schools had held similar parties in recent years, and they were determined to stop the practice by appealing to parents.

The announcement of the Fort Hill party said that "a prize will be given to the man or woman who can drink the most beer and whisky," and that there would be a consolation prize of a year's free membership to an organization of disabled war veterans.

Upon learning of the planned party, Heisey wrote letters to parents of the approximately 180 seniors asking that they prevent the celebration if they could determine whether or not their children were involved.

Jap School Strike

FUKUOKA, Japan, June 7 (AP) — Thirty-nine second grade pupils struck—and won.

Rebellious because they resented distribution of vegetables grown in the school garden, they used sports equipment without asking permission. The teachers disapproved — with spanks.

Feelings and posteriors bruised, the children stalked off.

The teachers visited homes, apologized, and asked the pupils to return. They did.

High School Honor Girl Missing 7 Days

THOMPSONVILLE, Ct., June 7 (AP)—State Police continued search today for Ramona Figurato, 17-year-old Enfield High School student reported by her family Thursday as having disappeared six days ago. Her mother is near collapse.

Police said the girl, scheduled to graduate June 20, left home last Friday to go to a YWCA camp for the week-end, but never arrived.

Butter Price-Haggling Goes on, Public Suffers

Scarce supplies of butter in Boston dwindled away to almost nothing today while OPA and Agriculture Department officials, after more than a week of haggling over a proposed price increase, still remained at loggerheads. The blundering argument between the two government agencies has been going on ever since May 29 when Chester Bowles announced an 11-cent per pound increase had been authorized but set no date for the rise to became effective.

As a result, wholesalers have been holding on to their supplies and even creameries are refusing to ship butter, preferring to hold on and cash in on the price increase, which they had expected from day to day would be made effective.

As usual, it was the public which took the beating but now, after a week of haggling, the situation has become much more serious.

Hospitals and institutions in Boston, which had been given a steady supply even in the days of great scarcity, found themselves without butter and their suppliers without a pound to help them.

Department of Agriculture marketing reports show that butter is being held both at the source—the creameries—and in the wholesale markets "pending details of the new pricing and control program."

The same reports detail the confusion over the butter picture in the nation's large cities and the fact that the haggling over the price rise between the two government agencies is solely responsible. Here are some sample reports:

"BOSTON—Confusion still exists; all dealers waiting for new price program."

"NEW YORK—Some groups building up fair-sized inventories. Supplies off market to great extent on creamery instructions."

"PHILADELPHIA—Very few wholesale sales; reported being withheld at sources pending price rise."

"CHICAGO—Supplies at lowest level, much butter being held off market waiting definite time of price increase."

Boston marketmen, importuned constantly by customers and unable to obtain more than a trickle of supplies, blame the whole confused situation on continued government stupidity in handling the pricing program.

"If Bowles wanted to announce a price increase," said one marketman, "he should have announced a definite date and not leave us all up in the air."

The same marketman declared incoming supplies of butter had dropped off to almost nothing as soon as Bowles made his announcement.

On May 27, Boston received 44,768 pounds of butter, according to Agriculture Dept. figures and on the next day 33,249 pounds came to the city. On May 29 and Fthe holiday a total of 85,130 pounds arrived but Bowles made his announcement on the night of May 29.

The result was that the incoming supplies on June 1 amounted to only 8608, about a fifth of the average daily supply coming into the city.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate

WITH the exception of Czechoslovakia, whenever the people of Europe have had an opportunity to vote freely, they have turned down the Communists. The French and Italian elections established it beyond doubt that this is no haphazard instance but marks a trend characteristic of the Europeans.

Reports from Poland indicate that if a free, unhampered election could be held in that country, the Communists would be snowed under. And the accounts of the oppression of Mikolajczyk, the head of the Peasant party, who is actually in the government, give semblance of truth to the reports that the Communists in Poland are using the strong-arm methods of the frightened. They have continued pogroms on the Jews, which is always a sign that a European government seeks a murderous diversion to keep the minds of the people occupied with extraneous issues.

THE RUSSIANS respond to this normal attitude of the Europeans by attacking what they call the Anglo-American bloc. All their instruments of propaganda are aimed at the United States and Great Britain, the object being to stimulate hatred for us among the Europeans. And they will only succeed if the United States and Great Britain give the Europeans direct cause for opposition to us.

For, it is obvious, certainly in western and middle Europe, that the Russians have run their gamut, and that most of the people in the various countries of these areas, having witnessed the Russians at work, prefer western civilization.

The speeches and broadcasts of the Pope have beyond doubt played an important role in forming public opinion in these principally Catholic countries. And here I wish to make a point:

TO AMERICANS, the Roman Catholic church is a religious institution, like the Methodists, Episcopalians, Seventh Day Adventists or Christian Scientists, that relates itself exclusively or principally to religious ritual and dogma. Those who attend it are members, who may belong to it or withdraw from it. In many European countries, Roman Catholicism is not only that, but also a way of life, a philosophy of action in politics as in religion. Many men, in such countries, call themselves Catholics and belong to or vote for Catholic parties, who rarely, if ever, go to church, confess their sins or take communion. In church discipline, they are not in good standing; yet they are devoted to what they call Catholic Action.

To them Catholicism is the antithesis of Communism; it is the struggle between West and East, between Rome and Byzantium, between the civilization of the individual man and the civilization of the serf—the physical as well as spiritual enslavement of one man to another or to an institution such as government.

AS NO SUCH development has yet occurred in the United States, it is extremely difficult for Americans to understand this characteristic of European affairs behind which stands at least sixteen hundred years of history.

Yet were we to understand it, we would realize why a little country like Lebanon in Asia is torn between the Catholic Maronites, some of whom favor the Jewish Zionists, and the Arab politicians who oppose them on grounds which relate to trends in civilization rather than immediate politics.

Or, in every country, Catholics tend to support Franco, whom they do not particularly like, because they dislike Stalin more. In a word, all these Catholic Action groups are soldiers in civilizations at war, taking sides on eternal philosophic issues rather than over men and events.

In a country like France, therefore, the Pope represents not only religious headship but guidance in the struggle between one form of civilization and another. It is possible for a French agnostic or even atheist, as it has been for anti-clerical Catholics, to support Catholic Action because it represents to them the continued process of western civilization.

Millions Jam London All Set For Greatest Victory Day

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—Millions of visitors jammed the English capital today for tomorrow's victory celebration, expected to be the greatest show this nation has seen since the coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in May, 1937. As flags bedecked the ancient streets, softening the scars of war, authorities prepared to handle 10,000,000 or more people in London from long before dawn until far after midnight as masses continued to pour in from all parts of the kingdom, freed from their normal routine by the long Whitsuntide holiday.

At a cost of approximately $620,000, the government has devised a spectacular entertainment in official token of the Allied triumph, 13 months after the victory in Europe.

The victory will be commemorated especially by the day's first major event—a parade of marching columns and mechanized forces, led by the royal family in a state landau, escorted by cavalry.

Men and women of the homeland, colorfully uniformed representatives of all parts of the Empire and contingents of Allied armies will move past the huge reviewing stand in the Mall, a wide thoroughfare between Buckingham Palace and the Admiralty Arch.

Over them will fly old and new craft of the RAF, heavy bombers famed in the war years, and jet-propelled ships of later fame, sweeping low to salute the sovereign.

"This victory parade show will be pure, unadulterated swank, so let's have plenty of it," RAF Marshal Lord Tedder told his men.

The greatest disappointment for Britons is the absence of Gen. Eisenhower, who advised Prime Minister Atlee that pressure of work in the U. S. prevented him from accepting the government's invitation to attend. The American Army, Navy and Marine Corps will be represented, however, by high-ranking officers and detachments of men numbering in all about 130.

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of U. S. forces in Europe, and Adm. H. Kent Hewitt, commander of naval forces in this theater, and Brig. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, of the Marine Corps, head the American representation.

Throughout the afternoon and evening there will be special programs for children, as well as concerts, water displays, fireworks, illumination of public buildings and lineup of Royal Navy warships in the Thames.

14-Year-Olds' Holdup Try Fails

An attempt to rob Mrs. Harriet Whitney, 77, of Pinckney st., Beacon Hill, as she walked along Mt. Vernon st., landed two 14-year-old West End boys in juvenile court today.

Mrs. Whitney told police the youngsters accosted her with what looked like a revolver, and ordered her to "hand it over quick." When the elderly woman retorted "I'll hand over nothing," she said, they fled.

She telephoned police as soon as she reached home and 15 minutes later Special Officers Joseph Bailey and John Canavan picked up the boys on Beacon st. Mrs. Whitney identified them at the Joy st station, where a toy revolver was found on one of them.

Granara Gives Self Up; Seek Langone Ouster

J. Ralph Granara, city graves registrar, sought for nearly 24 hours in the Boston election frauds, surrendered in Scollay sq. today to State Police detectives.

He was taken by State Lts. Michael Cullinane and Gerald McCarthy to superior court for arraignment on indictments returned yesterday by the Suffolk County grand jury. He is charged with filing fraudulent nomination papers for the office of governor's councilor.

Meanwhile, a group of Boston citizens sought court action to enjoin Joseph A. Langone, Jr., Boston election commissioner, from continuing in that office until after the June 18 primaries.

Langone, a former state senator, his son, Joseph A., 3rd, and Paul E. Riley, all of the North End, were indicted by the same jury on charges of conspiracy to make, sign and file unlawfully the Granara nomination papers.

Arraigned before Judge James C. Donnelly, the two Langones and Riley pleaded not guilty and were released in bail of $1000 each pending hearing June 20.

The grand jury's action had been preceded by an election inquest by Judge Elijah Adlow of Municipal Court.

In his report Judge Adlow set forth that Comr. Langone's private undertaking establishment in Haverhill st., North End, was used by at least two candidates for the Executive Council in the Fourth District as headquarters for obtaining fraudulent signatures to nomination papers.

Tobin Expects Commerce Dept. Action Before Solons Adjourn

Following a prolonged night session at which the House passed to be engrossed and sent to the Senate the bill to provide additional bonus payments of $100 to $200 to Massachusetts veterans of World War II, according to length and type of service, Gov. Tobin was to confer today with Senate and House leaders on their plans for an early prorogation. The governor declined to state what action he will take on any of the more than 200 matters still pending in the two branches, but he did indicate he will expect the Legislature to approve his proposed $1,000,000 State Department of Commerce.

Another item the Governor is expected to press is the redistricting of the state into Councilor, Representative and Senatorial districts. He has sent a message to the Legislature demanding action, and in reply the joint rules committee has approved an order calling for a study by a recess commission.

During last night's session the Governor also submitted a supplementary budget calling for an outlay of $9,089,434 above the $126,000,000 annual budget previously passed by the Legislature.

As approved by the lower branch and sent to the Senate, the bonus bill provides additional payments of $100 to any veteran with more than six months' service and $200 to veterans who served overseas. It was passed to be engrossed on a rollcall of 179 to 21. The 21 voting against the measure were all Republicans.

The additional bonus is estimated to cost $90,000,000, to be raised by continuing the present tax of two cents a package on cigarets and 45 cents a gallon on liquor for 10 years.

Today the House was expected to take up the bill to create a $50,000,000 loan fund, out of which veterans would be able to obtain interest-free loans up to $1000. The revenue for this would be raised by extending the corporation income tax of 2½ per cent from one to three years.

Honored

AWARDED CITATIONS—Dr. Lise Meitner, Jewish refugee and atomic scientist (right), talks with actress Katharine Cornell and Dr. Arthur Compton, chancellor of Washington University, at Chicago meeting of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Organization awarded citations to both women for their contributions "to inter-group understanding." (AP Wirephoto)

Meat Workers To Ask More Pay

CHICAGO, June 7 (INS)—Officials of the AFL-Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Union revealed they will demand substantial wage increases in new contracts with the Big Four meat packers.

Earl W. Jimerson, union president, and Patrick E. Groman, secretary-treasurer, said the demands would be made despite a 16-cent hourly boost granted last January.

The master contract between the union and Swift, Armour, Wilson and Cudahy companies, expires Aug. 11.

STOWAWAY—Teresa Briston, 16, told California officials she stowed away aboard the liner Matsonia on trip from Honolulu to Los Angeles because she was pregnant and wanted to see 21-year-old sailor Johnny Ochsner, heir to a $2,000,000 oil fortune.

Refugee's New Drug Relieves Hay Fever

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—Relief in a high percentage of hay fever cases is reported following use of a new drug at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Anthallan, a non-toxic coal-tar derivative discovered by Dr. Walter S. Loewe, 61-year old German refugee pharmacologist now on the faculty of the University of Utah, also promises some aid in treatment of other allergies of nose and skin.

Largest Egyptian Burial Crypt Found

CAIRO, June 7 (AP) — An ancient Egyptian burial chamber, described as largest in the world, has been found by an Egyptian archeologist at Helwan, near Cairo.

Zaki Saad, the excavator, said he believed the stone chamber—16 to 23 feet wide and 100 feet long—belonged to a prehistoric king.

Search Widened For Revere Boy

James Jacobs, 13, of Highland st., Revere, has been missing since he started for school Monday morning, Revere authorities disclosed today in requesting assistance of Greater Boston police in a search for him.

His mother, Mrs. Rose Jacobs, was reported ill from anxiety for her son. He vanished while on his way to class at the Liberty School, Revere.

He is 4 ft., 11 in. tall, of slender build and weighs about 75 pounds. He has reddish hair and brown eyes. When last seen he was wearing blue dungarees, blue shirt and brown shoes.

R. E. Flanders Seeks Austin's Senate Seat

Ralph E. Flanders of Springfield, Vt., former president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and one of New England's foremost industrialists, today was an avowed Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Warren R. Austin. Also seeking the Republican nomination is Sterry R. Waterman of St. Johnsbury, Vt., head of the Vermont Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Lt. Edward T. Leary Of Boston Police Dies

Lt. Edward T. Leary, 45, of Asticou rd., Jamaica Plain, well known police officer in that district, died today at City Hospital following a month's illness. He is survived by his wife, Helen T., and two sons.

Methuen Man Dies as Fire Razes Home

METHUEN, June 7 (AP)—Peter J. Kenney, 54, died in a fire that destroyed his home today as he tried to call help by telephone.

The body was found near the telephone and fire chief Benjamin Bean said "careless smoking" was the cause. Kenney leaves a widow and several children.

Lynn Woman, 53, Hit by Auto, Dies

Mrs. Mary Wylczynski, 53, of Summer st., Lynn, died at Lynn Hospital today of injuries received when she was struck by an auto as she crossed South Common st.

Police said a St. Mary's High School baseball player, Alfred E. Bresnahan, 17, of Laurel st., Lynn, drove the car.

Powell, Jap Prison Victim, to Testify

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—John B. Powell, newspaperman who lost parts of both feet as a result of gangrene incurred in a Japanese prison camp, will testify at the war crimes trial in Tokyo.

He is expected to testify against former premier Tojo and other Japanese charged with being war criminals.

Navy Detonates Jap Bomb at Golden Gate

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7 (INS)—A live Japanese torpedo, inaccurately fired at an unidentified target in the Golden Gate during the war, was exploded on a rockbound San Francisco beach by a Navy demolition detail.

"You're getting your dates mixed, dear! 1921 was the year you met ME!"

Says Wife Tried To Drive Him Mad

CLEVELAND, June 7 (AP)—A man testified in his wife's divorce action that she had "diabolically schemed" to run him crazy in order to gain possession of his $100,000 real estate.

George Pauer, 42, told Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert that his 49-year-old spouse systematically planned to break down his nervous system and then have him adjudged insane.

Mrs. Pauer charged that her husband, a graduate of Western Reserve University School of Pharmacy, drank excessively and abused her although she had nursed him back from ill health. She said his sickness was the result of intemperate habits.

House OK's Check On Road Fund Use

Diversion of highway funds for other than highway purposes would be banned under a proposed legislation amendment approved by the House of Representatives by a roll call vote of 222 to 28.

On another roll call ballot, in which the vote was unanimous, the House approved a legislative amendment to fill vacancies in constitutional offices without restricting the choice to the runner-up candidate.

If the Senate concurs, both proposed amendments will go on the ballot in the 1948 election for action by the voters.

Earl O. Shreve of New York and John L. Wilds of Chicago were chosen vice-presidents and Hovey T. Freeman of Providence, R. I., secretary-treasurer. George W. Elliott of hPiladelphia was elected chairman of directors.

Perilous Honor

WILMINGTON, Del., June 7 (AP)—Eight-year-old Nancy Gainor's good posture pin put her in the hospital today.

She had it in her hand proudly showing it at school. A child ran past, striking her arm and projecting the pin into her arm and projecting the pin into her mouth.

Nancy swallowed and the pin lodged in her throat.

Police Halt Rome Royalist Rioting

ROME, June 7 (AP)—Club-swinging police broke up a monarchist demonstration in downtown Rome today as post-plebiscite tension, which caused bloodshed in Naples last night, spread to the capital.

About 200 demonstrators paraded crowded streets shouting "long live the king," and "down with the republic."

Fist-fights with republican sympathizers broke out before police intervened. Precautions against demonstrations were redoubled and strong forces cordoned off all approaches to the royal palace, where King Umberto II was reported drafting a farewell message for Italians to support a unified republic.

One monarchist was killed and eight were wounded in Naples, which voted four to one in favor of the monarchy in last week-end's elections. Troops in light tanks joined police in patroling streets.

6 Lichfield Men Again Defy Court

BAD NAUHEIM, German, June 7 AP)—For the second time in 10 days, six prisoner witnesses in the Lichfield trials for brutality to American soldier prisoners during the war, refused en masse to testify today although threatened with military punishment.

Six times before the luncheon recess, the president of the eight-man court trying Lt. Leonard W. Ennis of Peekskill, N. Y., for authorizing acts of cruelty while in charge of guards at the stockade at Lichfield, England, asked witnesses to recognize their "responsibility to the government and to pustice" and then ordered them to obey and testify.

But in each instance, the soldiers refused. Eleven more witnesses were scheduled to be asked to testify after the recess.

New Ohio Steel Co. For Kaiser-Frazer

CLEVELAND, June 7 (INS)—Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland industrialist, announced today formation of a new steel company, to be known as the Portsmouth Steel Corp.

Eaton said the concern would acquire for $12,000,000 the Portsmouth, O., works of the Wheeling Steel Corp., where it will manufacture steel for the Kaiser-Frazer and Graham-Paige automobile plants.

Morton Gondelman Honored at Dinner

Friends and business associates of Morton Gondelman attended a bachelor dinner held in his honor last evening at the Hotel Gardner. Gondelman, recently discharged from service with the Army, has joined Morton's as a staff assistant. On Sunday, June 16, he will be married to Miss Karolina Rubin of Newton Center, at the Hotel Somerset.

Moscow Charges Pius Pro-Fascist

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—Moscow made a new attack on the Vatican today, accusing the Catholic heirarchy of pro-Fascist sympathies and Pope Pius of attempts to intimidate French and Italian voters "with all kinds of bogies" on the eve of elections.

A Tass report of an Izvestia article by "International Observer" broadcast by the Moscow radio said, however, that Italy's elections were a "victory for democracy" in spite of all teh Pope could do.

MEXICO QUAKE RECORDED

WESTON, June 7 (AP)—A "very strong" earthquake was recorded on the Weston College seismograph at 11:19:41 p. m. yesterday, the Rev. Daniel Linehan, S. J., reported. The disturbance was about 2145 miles south-southwest of Boston, probably in southern Mexico.

Helicopter Drops 9000 Feet in Safety

DAYTON, O., June 7 (AP)—An Army Air Forces helicopter, its engine dead, dropped from 9000 feet without damage to the craft or injury to its pilot.

Auto-rotation—free-wheeling of the helicopter's rotor blades—allowed the pilot, Capt. Irvin C. Steiner of Wright Field, to land his helicopter safely in a cow pasture at nearby New Germany.

Two-Master Burns In Rockland Harbor

ROCKLAND, Me., June 7—The 86-foot two-masted schooner M & L Coaster of Venezuela was destroyed by fire in the harbor here when a gas engine used to provide electric power exploded.

The vessel, recently sold by M. H. Canoon of Mahone Bay, N. S., to J. J. Rodriquez of Port au Spain, was en route there for delivery.

L. K. Liggett Rites Scheduled Sunday

Funeral services for Louis K. Liggett, world famed drug store operator, will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday from the First Church Congregational, Newton Center, with interment in the family vault at Newton Cemetery. The 71-year-old drug magnate died Wednesday night at the home of a daughter in Washington, D. C.

He is survived by a brother, Alf Liggett of Wyandotte, Mich., two daughters, Mrs. Musa Scrivener and Mrs. Janice Baldwin, both of Washington, D. C., and nine grandchildren.

Born in Detroit in 1875, he embarked on a drug business career at the age of 20, and three years later was general manager of the Boston drug firm of Chester Kent Co.

While traveling throughout the United States, he was struck by the absence of co-operation among independent druggists and it was at this point that he conceived the idea that was to grow into the vast United Rexall Drug Co. and the Liggett chain of drug stores.

He outlined his idea to a meeting of leading druggists in Chicago in 1902 and soon after was given the financial backing that started the United Drug Co. The company was established in Boston, manufacturing drug products to be distributed through member druggists holding exclusive territorial privilege, and the trade name "Rexall" was adopted.

Meanwhile he began acquiring a string of retail drug stores which he combined into the Liggett chain.

OPA Reports Secret Bread Sale Spreading

WASHINGTON (INS)—An OPA survey revealed yesterday that the bread famine is spreading and that some dealers are giving preference to old-time customers with "under-the-counter" sales from dwindling stocks.

The survey disclosed that about 80 per cent of American communities face serious bread shortages which have grown worse during the last two weeks.

State Troopers Hunt New Home

Where and how to house 10 state troopers facing eviction from their Lunenberg barracks was a major problem today in the office of Public Safety Comr. John Stokes.

The barrack is one of two in Massachusetts not owned by the state. The owner, S. H. Franzin of New Haven, Ct., has served notice he wants the barracks by July 1.

State police today were considering the possibility of an appeal to the OPA for an extension; an appeal to the Army for temporary quarters at Ft. Devens.

New Parole Board Need Cited by Solon

The warning that unrest among prisoners in the State's penal institutions was fast approaching an "Alcatraz situation" and that only a new, full-time parole board could correct the evils in the persent system was voiced at a hearing granted the recess commission appointed to study parole and prison conditions, by the legislative committee on state administration and finance.

Sen. J. Eler Callahan, commission chairman told the committee that experts were unanimous in agreeing that the situation calls for a full-time board and, that to attract men of the highest caliber, its members must have added compensation.

Senator Joseph Murphy, who sponsored this piece of proposed legislation, said it was generally agreed by prison experts that a new board is needed.

"Here is something which should be done now," he said, "and I hope politics doesn't enter into it. We want fast action on it because we don't want an Alcatraz situation here in Massachusetts."

He was interrupted by a member of the committee who asked if the present parole board could not do as good a job as a new board.

"In my opinion it could not," Murphy replied. "I found case after case where there was negligence on the part of the present board; where the board had released men with 40 to 50 years to serve who were guilty of the most heinous crimes.

"In other cases prisoners should have been paroled and the board would not even hear their cases, and I think that is being negligent. Now that the heat and pressure is on there have been more paroles in the last two months than in an entire year before. If the board can do that now why wasn't it doing it all the time?"

John D. O'Hare, who represented the Governor on the recess commission, said he was surprised at the minority report of the commission favoring the retention of the present parole board. "Until 5 p. m. last Tuesday, as far as I knew, there was no dissent among the commission on its report," he said.

Haverhill Vet Ruled Suicide

HAVERHILL, June 6—Robert A. Palmer, 21, war veteran son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray H. Palmer of Colby st., was a suicide, Dr. Leroy T. Stokes, medical examiner, ruled today.

The youth died from a head wound inflicted by a .38-caliber revolver. His body was found in the cellar of the Palmer home.

Dr. Palmer, a prominent dentist, told police his son had appeared despondent since his discharge from the Army eight wees ago after four years' service. The youth also leaves a twin brother and two sisters.

Hunt for Taxi Slayer Waits FBI Fingerprint Analysis

Rewards for the capture of the slayer of Frank T. Morrissey, taxicab driver, totaled $2000 today as police here awaited a report from Washington on a fingerprint taken from the death cab.

The City of Boston Cab Ass'n voted an appropriation of $1000 for apprehension and conviction of the slayer. The Kenmore Taxi Co., Morrissey's firm, and an anonymous Cambridge resident, each previously had offered rewards of $500.

The fund for the widow and three children of the slain Roslindale driver totaled $2762.25 in cash and pledges today. This amount included a $1000 contribution from the City of Boston Cab Ass'n.

Police said the fingerprint was made in blood on the steering wheel of the taxi. Detectives took it as evidence the slayer had the blood of the victim on his hands. Early last Sunday when he drove the cab to Medford where the body was dumped out.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School.

Q—How can we keep dried beans over winter? Last year they were all eaten up.

A—Your trouble was bean weevil damage. This insect is very common in this section, but is not noticed until a gardener tries to save mature beans. There are several methods of control. (1) Put beans in a tight container and place a dish of carbon bisulphide on top of them. This forms a gas which will settle over the beans. Use about 1 tablespoon for 1 cu. ft. of space and leave covered for 24 hours. (2) Heat for 2 to 3 hours in a slow oven.

Q—Are tar paper discs necessary for late cabbage?

A—No. Late attacks by the maggot are seldom serious.

Q—My beet tops are very red and seem to grow slowly. What is the trouble?

A—This looks like the effect of the soil being too acid. Would suggest liming at the rate of ½ lb. to each 10 sq. ft. before planting beets. It may help the present crop to work in a few wood ashes.

Q—Can ferns be grown successfully?

A—Yes. It is necessary to create natural conditions by adding plenty of leaf mold to the soil and planting them in a cool, shady place. Do not let the soil dry out. Transplant in the fall after the tops have died back and protect with leaves.

Q—What spray can be used to control aphids on peas?

A—Use a spray of black leaf 40 made by using 1½ teaspoons of nicotine plus 2 tablespoons soap per gallon of water. Spray once a week during late June and July.

Q—Is commercial liquid fertilizer better than dry forms?

A—No. Commercial liquid fertilizer is not better than the dry form, and the price is much higher.

Q—Why is it necessary to buy certified seed potatoes?

A—Certified seed potatoes are grown under supervision of state inspectators who check for certain diseases. If the fields show signs of these diseases they are not certified. This gives you seed that should produce better crops.

Q—Last year we had a garden for the first time and were troubled with ants. Is there any control?

A—Many gardeners have considerable trouble with ants, especially on new land. These insects are particularly bad on light, sandy soil. The best control is to locate the tunnels, or openings, and inject carbon bisulfide into them, or if openings are not present, make holes 10 to 12 inches apart and pour material in. Fill holes and allow fumes to work. some relief, but this is not perma Commercial ant baits may give lnent.

Delaney Heads Food Collectors

Denis W. Delaney, collector of Internal Revenue, has accepted the chairmanship of the Committee for Emergency Food Collection in Boston, it was announced today by John Sullivan, national representative for New England.

Widely experienced in such fields, Chairman Delany at once disclosed that fund solicitations, now being carried out on a national scale, will be climaxed over the entire Boston district during the week of June 23 to 29.

The money obtained during the campaign will make possible the widest and fairest distribution of donated food among families and individuals in war-devastated countries, he explained.

This program is cooperating closely with President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee. Local donations should be sent to Emergency Food Collection, 1 State st., Boston. Telephone, Capitol 4163.

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill to pay $5000 to C. Le Roy Phillips of Boston for the death of his wife, Rachel, Jan. 20, 1945, after being struck by an Army truck at Montauk, N. Y.

Other relief measures sent to the President would pay:

Mary A. Wallis, Providence, $999.06, for injuries received when she was struck by a postoffice truck in Providence, June 18, 1944.

Mrs. Theresa Ebrecht, Medford, Mass., $300, for injuries suffered when struck by a falling wooden platform outside Service Club No. 2, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., May 12, 1944.

Mrs. Catherine Fortunato, Medford, Mass., $346, for injuries received when struck by a government motorcycle at Gore Field, Great Falls, Mont., March 21, 1944.

Gladys Hasting, Boston, $500, in settlement of claims after she was struck by an Army truck on Columbus ave., Boston, April 11, 1945.

SETTLE ISSUE OF TIDELANDS

THE PROSPECTIVE ADJOURNMENT of Congress in mid-July, with resumption of sessions delayed until next January, has increased the necessity for immediate and final action by the United States Senate on the long-pending measure to remove the nation's vital tidelands from the jeopardy of a fallacious and malicious Federal title claim.

This measure is before the Senate in the form of a "quit-claim" resolution which would acknowledge the historic claim of the individual states to all submerged and reclaimed tidelands within or adjoining their borders as constituting permanent title.

It has already had the nearly unanimous approval of the House of Representatives.

It is assured of an overwhelming vote of approval by the Senate, when and if it is brought to a vote.

Only the obstructive and evasive tactics of a small minority in the Senate, which has resorted to a strategy of delay in the matter, is preventing a vote.

IF IT CAN PREVENT a Senate vote in the current session, the prior approval by the House will be nullified and the whole procedure will have to be gone through again.

In the meantime, the government's suit in the Supreme Court to legalize the Federal claim of title to these disputed lands which has neither historical or moral substantiation will be pressed—and if this suit is successful the status of more than ONE HUNDRED BILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF AMERICAN TIDELANDS will become utterly chaotic.

"Local private and city-owned property, valued in billions of dollars, would be thrown into a state of economic and legal confusion should the Federal LAND GRAB prove successful," as the New York Journal-American warns.

IF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE are puzzled by the bureaucratic purpose inherent in the advocacy of Federal title:

"The answer is that our expanding American bureaucracy, insatiable in its appetite for power and arrogant in its assumption of power and unrestrained by either historic precedent or moral principle in its quest for power, is grasping for the greatest INSTRUMENTS of power ever contemplated and coveted by bureaucratic minds," as the Baltimore News-Post observes.

The government of the United States is serving as the subverted tool of grasping bureaucracy in raising the issue of Federal title to submerged and reclaimed tidelands.

The American people will suffer incalculable injury and loss if the precedent and practice of a century and a half of American history fall by virtue of this callous and reprehensible contempt for the stability and security of essential property rights.

BUILD GARAGE

"THE GARAGE under Boston Common is the key to the solution of the city's traffic problem, admittedly the worst in the entire country.

"Let us build the garage with a minimum of procrastination and delay.

"We cannot afford to risk more decentralization in the downtown area or a further loss of business and employment."

This is the challenging statement of Rep. Michael Paul Feeney of Hyde Park.

Representative Feeney has been long and conspicuously identified with progressive legislation.

He has successfully sponsored many laws improving workmen's compensation, increasing the benefits to widows and orphans and providing for unlimited medical care and hospitalization for persons injured in industry.

He is a foremost worker for more liberal assistance to aged persons.

He supports the garage and wants it to be built as soon as possible because he knows it will contribute to the economic betterment of the people.

The hope I dreamed of was a dream,
Was but a dream; and now I wake
Exceeding comfortless, and worn, and old,
For a dream's sake.
Lie still, lie still, my breaking heart;
My silent heart, lie still and break;
Life, and the world, and mine own self
Are changed,
For a dream's sake.

WHAT IS THE LONG-PERIOD employment record for women? Is it possible the holder of this record is Sophia Haven, who has been continuously employed at the Boston Atheneum (private library) in Boston for 67 years and is still actively engaged there?

(Miss Haven, who lives at Pinckney st. and doesn't want to give her age, says this isn't exactly correct. She first went there in 1880, which is 66 years ago. She worked there until 1884, then again from 1887 to 1888 and then again returned after a leave in 1895 and has been there ever since. She is in charge of the acquisition department.)

FOLLOWING HISTORICAL DATA is from the works of the Roman author, Pliny the Elder: "The first barbers that entered Italy came out of Sicily 454 years after the foundation of Rome. They shaved but did not cut hair. The first man to be saved every day was Scipio Africanus.'

SAYS SHE—"Why do the so-called lengthy ladies say such nasty things about petite women?" writes a Homewood, Ill., subscriber. "The attitude of tall women when talking to smaller women is, at times, definitely surly and sullen. The basis of this is, of course, envy. Every tall woman has lost at least one man because he preferred a smaller girl. But why blame the smaller girls for that? Can we help it because we were born cute? I am a brown-eyed brunette exactly 5 feet in height. I weigh 99 pounds. My boy friend, a U. S. marine, is 6 feet 2 inches tall, dark and quite handsome."

LUCKY MOTHER—Mrs. Arthur Kenneman of Neshkoro, Wis., is the mother of 18 living children. "They are all fine children," says Mrs. Kenneman. "And were all good babies. Never had to walk the floor with a single one of them."

PLEASE NOTE—Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Howell of Manzanita, Wash., are the parents of 10 daughters and no sons. All the girls are under 15. Mrs. Howell must spend some interesting mornings taking care of the infants of the family and getting the rest of her daughters off to school.

QUERY FROM CLIENT. Q—You are all wrong on your figures as to the price of a rubber tired buggy in 1905. Where did you get this idea? The lowest price for such a buggy at that time was $85. I know, because I bought one that year. A—Mister, you just didn't shop around. The records reveal that in 1905 the First National Co-operative Society of Chicago was selling rubber tired buggies for $62.50.

HAIR-DO HEAVEN—A young woman who gets about a lot in Manhattan says she has discovered a "most remarkable" beauty shop. It is in a penthouse overlooking Central Park. The customers can enjoy the view while being worked over. Also soft soothing music is continually played. A delicious free luncheon is served. Sounds like quite a hair-do heaven. My girl friend is going to check on it.

SEVENTH DAUGHTER—"As to seventh daughters having unusually good luck," writes a Meutchen, N. J., reader, "my wife is a seventh daughter. I asked her about this. She said: 'You can't prove it by me. I never had any good luck at all.' And then she added hastily: 'Except when I got you, honey.'"

SIDELIGHTS — What's the matter with Susan as a name? Seems every girl so named by her loving parents wants to change it. They call themselves Susie, Sue, Suzy, Susye and even Suzi. There must be more variations of Susan than of Dorothy . . . "Prohibition is on the way back," says a contemporary. Maybe the man is right. But it hasn't come back very far as yet. Currently only 20 per cent of the people in the United States live in dry territory.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

I MAY BE DECEIVED by my own interests, but it strikes me that the Americans nowadays enjoy politics as much as we enjoyed sports in the era of wonderful nonsense and that sports have fallen to a position somewhere in the second division, say about the place that politics occupied back in the Prosperous Twenties.

Westbrook Pegler

To be sure, attendance and receipts are good in the major leagues and tickets for the heavyweight fight are scalping for $100 a copy, but I observe that the more or less idle conversation of people runs more to political personalities and issues than to the trouble with the Giants, which would have been a topic of national concern 15 years ago, and that if some committee for or against this or that hires the Garden or Carnegie Hall and puts on a card of ham-and-egg spellbinders, the citizens will tear off the front of the house to get in and revel in a pleasant program of hating.

A PECULIAR THING about this is that these crowds don't go to be convinced of anything, being already savagely opposed to the person or proposition selected for denunciation and thus are really wasting their time except that, as I note, they love to hate and therefore enjoy themselves.

There are a few exceptions, of course, such as William C. Fields, the old comedian, who always buys six tickets down front when an eminent female New Dealer plays Hollywood, one for himself and five for friends to help him hate her, but, in general, birds of a feather flock together and really pay money for this fun. Realizing this, the booking agents who send talent out over the country have collected regular stables of bleeding hearts and world-savers comparable to the late Leo P. Flynn's troupe of logical contenders, 19 of whom fought in as many cities on a New Year's Day 25 years ago.

A mutual friend tells me that Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce has to turn down about 500 lecture dates every month and while you have to make a certain allowance for looks, still her looks aren't all.

JUST NOW, all over Connecticut, people are speculating whether the Republicans will give Mrs. Luce their nomination for Senator, to run against Chester Bowles of the OPA, about the same as the public used to talk up the big fights in the early stages by wondering whether Dempsey or Tunney would "come to terms" with old Tex. Mrs. Luce really ought to be able to write her own ticket to the Republicans and probably will get the match because she has put in two terms in the lower house in Washington and her announcement that she wouldn't take another nomination for that job just means that she figures she has earned this promotion and a contest against Bowles for the seat that Admiral Thomas Hart has decided to resign.

The people in Connecticut, and especially the CIO, who run the Democratic party, all realize that Mrs. Luce is a ferocious campaigner, remembering that she licked not only the state Democratic organization in her last run for Congress but took on Franklin D. Roosevelt and pinned his ears back, too, and all without outside help. They threw everything they had at her and when she finally won, that victory was as spectacular and exciting to people now turned to politics as Dempsey's wild knockout over Firpo had been to fans of another kind in a quieter and happier time.

In one of his speeches, Henry Wallace called her a sharp-tongued glamor girl of forty and felt the slash of that tongue an hour later with a turn of repartee that slit him from here to here. Clifton Fadiman, the bull butterfly of the radio, got fresh and what happened to him shouldn't happen to a dog. Dogs are all right.

I THINK the Republicans are going to give it to her, realizing, if they have any sense, that with Gov. Ray Baldwin determined to retire from public office, Clare is the only one they have who would have a chance to beat Bowles' great publicity, neatly contrived through the propaganda machine of the OPA, and start heading him off from the presidency in 1948 or 1952. And then, men, as they used to say at the old Pioneer A. C., this here is going to be a grudge fight and the beauty of politics is that everybody can get in and will.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD June 7—After three and a half years off the screen following her husband, Major Joseph Howard, from one aviation post to the other, Priscilla Lane is back to co-star with Eddie Bracken in "Strange Bed Fellows" for United Artists. This is really news because at the time she married and walked out on her Warner contract, Pris said she was through with her career forever. She was completely happy being "just a wife" and the Howards have a five-month-old baby.

Priscilla Lane

But Andrew Stone got in touch with her and sold her a bill of goods on this very hilarious comedy about a boy and a girl who go from rags to riches in 24 hours. When I asked him how Priscilla looks after all this time, he said:

"Well, it will give you a good idea when I say that throughout the entire first part of the picture she wears nothing but bathing suits!"

I catch.

IT'S CORNEL WILDE, not Ty Power, for "The Black Rose." Thomas Costain's sensational selling novel—it is expected to hit over 1,800,000 copies—was bought by the 20th just about the time they bought that other adventure thriller, "The Captain from Castile." Both were originally scheduled for Tyrone and this switch in casting poses an interesting battle between two top romantic actors in stories unusually alike in the feeling of color, adventure and million-dollar budgets. And here's a $64 question. If Wilde makes "Black Rose," what happens with him in "Forever Amber"? Both are scheduled for September starting dates.

I CAN'T BLAME THE FANS of the "Janie" series if they're getting a little dizzy keeping up with Janie's changing personality. Although Joyce Reynolds has notified Warners that she is returning to the screen after she has her baby, she will not resume in the part she made famous. Joan Leslie, her successor, is no longer available since her legal tangles with Warners. Now I hear they are grooming Dorothy Malone—a very pretty brunette, more "grown up" than her predecessors. Evidently they are adding a dash of umph to Janie's goings-on.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: There will be no hasty elopement for Barbara Hale and Bill Williams. She wants an old-fashioned wedding with all the trimmings and Renie has already designed her wedding gown, "a white cloud with seed pearls" in the 1860 period; tip to the Eastern papers—the pretty girl who will be with Clark Gable at the Louis-Conn fight will be Betty Chisholm, the very rich Los Angelite; what's this about Bette Davis' husband taking up dress designing?

Barbara Hale

Mrs. Sam Goldwyn gets back a week from Thursday after a reunion with Sam, Jr., in Paris—her sole and only reason for going abroad at this time and not to scout actors or foreign talent. That's Mr. G.'s department. Johnny Coy and the bride are honeymooning at Grey Rock's Inn at St. Jovite, the highest point of Quebec's Laurentian Mountains; because it is impossible to answer all the people who have written to this office asking in which magazine Richard English's article about his successful operation for deafness appeared—it was the June 1 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

One hundred thousand dollars is a lot of money and Katie in "Arch of Triumph" is a wonderful role—but Norma Shearer turned down both. It isn't that she doesn't like the part or that it is third in the line—up to Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer, Norma just doesn't think Kate is completely right for her screen comeback and she explained how she felt in a long huddle with producer David Lewis, an old friend of hers. But it is interesting that Shearer was interested — and seems to provethat she would not turn a deaf ear to a part that would be up her street.

The antics on the set of "It's A Wonderful Life" are getting completely out of hand—and all because Jimmy, the raven, who once squawked on Louella Parsons' radio show, has been signed for a top role. The bird, playing himself, is getting very temperamental because another actor in the same picture is also named Jimmy—Jimmy Stewart. Every time Frank Capra says "Jimmy," doggone if the raven doesn't fly into camera range and start doing his stuff. They finally hit on what they hope is a solution—Actor Stewart is now referred to by his initials. Even this isn't a proven success where the aerial camera hog is concerned. Maybe he can spell.

Gail Patrick's ex, Dean White, is well launched on an acting career. He did so well in "The Best Years of Our Lives" for Sam Goldwyn that he's up for a long termer with Liberty Films. White, a lieutenant in the Navy during the war, was with the famous crew that was reported to have sent the cryptic mesage, "Sighted Sub—Sank Same;" the London Daily Express polled its readers on the ideal co-starring team and the winner came up—Greer Garson and James Mason by an overwhelming majority. "Random Harvest" was voted the ideal story for them.

The Dave Epsteins celebrating their 22d wedding anniversary at Las Vegas—and Tuesday was the eighth for Frances Langford and John Hall. Incidentally, Frances and Jon are contributing their services to a juvenile delinquency short to raise money for Lou Costello's Youth Foundation. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: Ann Corio, lovely graduate of the Old Howard and other stops on the burlesque wheel, has been cast as "Stonewall Jackson" in "Sailor, Beware," for a Boston premiere at Mutual Repertory Theater under sponsorship of the Cambridge Summer Theater, July 1 . . . One slight impediment to the undertaking would seem to be contained in the history of that bawdy comedy of the early 1930's . . . "Sailor, Beware" was banned in Boston

MANSFIELD was mayor at the time, and Herbert L. McNary city censor . . . Mayor Mansfield heard reports from his constituents that the farce-comedy, as played in New York, dealt with the informal subject of a sailor's success in breaking down the maidenly defenses of a pert but innocent young hostess in a Panama cabaret . . . Frankly "on the make" for the girl, the sailor—one "Dynamite Jones" and a Don Juan with the ladies—soon found that he was being backed in his attempted conquest by the bankrolls of his shipmates . . . All of Panama seemed to be wagering on the contest, as we recall the lines and action of the play.

THIS MADE FOR a situation that became more and more involved when both young protagonists found that they had fallen in love — — with each other. (While we think of it, Audrey Christie got her first good part as "Stonewall Jackson" and Bruce Macfarlane became an overnight success as a leading man as "Dynamite," and the two fell in love in real life and got married and—divorced) . . . Mayor Mansfield sternly disapproved of permitting that play to appear in Boston . . . So his city censor advised Producer Courtney Burr that he would be wiser not to book time for the Boston engagement. The affable Courtney accepted the hint, and that was the end of the show as far as Boston—for the time—was concerned.

SEVERAL SEASONS later a musical comedy called "Nice Going" was staged at the Shubert Theater. There had been a change in the Mayor's office, and Maurice J. Tobin—with Johnny Spencer as censor—was in power . . . The Tobin administration must have known that "Nice Going" was a musicalization of "Sailor, Beware!" . . . Laurence Schwab was producer of the words-and-music version, and Bert Wheeler was "Dynamite Jones" . . . Playing the part of "Stonewall Jackson" was a beauteous young redhead from Texas who was to make a terrific hit in a Cele Porter show by singing a rowdy lament entitled "My Heart Belongs to Daddy."

EVEN WITH her—Mary Martin—in the leading female role, however, the musical version of "Nice Going" was a hasty flop . . . One or two half-hearted efforts to stage the banned "Sailor, Beware!" in Boston have been announced from time to time (mostly by shoe-stringers eager to cash in on such notoriety as accrues from being "banned in Boston") . . . But this "Sailor, Beware!" starring Miss Corio will take place under the sturdy sponsorship of Lee Falk, the cartoonist, and John Huntington, director of the Cambridge theater. After one or two framed-up attempts to use him and Boston for stooges in "Boston banning" plots, City Censor Sam Nesson finally will have a decision to make that will be of some importance . . . Our guess is that "Sailor, Beware!" will take the stage of the Mutual Hall Repertory Theater and go its unbothered way for a week here, with another to follow in Cambridge . . . But that's a guess, only.

FIRST ODDS on the Governorship continuing in Democratic possession are Tobin, 2 to 1 . . . Bernard Goldfine, the Boston mill magnate, has a large interest in the proposed garage-under-the-Common . . . The "Common-under" auto-barn will be two to three years a-building . . . The most savage primary fight for high state office will be the Kelly-McDonough contest . . . That battle is warming up into a slugfest as the campaign nears the stretch.

UNCLE SAM'S NAVY is taking steps in the matter of an 18-year-old Milton boy who was shipped to Concord to serve an indeterminate sentence for a first offense after an upper court trial where the Navy's legal department had no representation . . . Prominent members of the Massachusetts bar are interested in the same case and are reported as bitter about an alleged breach of faith by a prosecutor who made a "deal"—and allegedly broke it . . . Three other Milton youngsters lost their freedom with the member of the U. S. Navy

PREDICTION: Bing Crosby will win the coveted role of "Harvey" (from the play of the same name) in the movies.

MY SENIOR NAVAL AIDE, Machinist's Mate Michel-Angelo Rembrandt Kelly, sidled in the other day looking very furtive.

"Hide me!" he implored.

So I started to give him a good hiding but it turned out that wasn't what he meant.

"I am afraid the gendarmes may be after me to throw me in the brig, or can, as you quaint civilians call it," he blubbered. "I have come to you for sanctuary—and I do not mean sanctuary much for the buggy ride."

"What foul deed have you done?" I asked.

"I have been dipped!" whimpered Michelangelo Rembrandt Kelly. "A pickpocket just clipped me for my month's pay!"

"That is very sad, and a decided outrage," I sympathized. "But I do not understand why the coppers should be after you. As I understand it you are the victim—not the thief."

"That's just it!" cried Mr. Kelly. "I am the victim, so they will doubtless single me out for punishment. It's a new idea in law administration."

"You are talking like a couple of admirals at a unification hearing," I chided.

"I see you do not keep abreast of developments," said Mr. Kelly. "They have evolved a new philosophy of crime prevention where they punish the guy who gets clipped."

I asked Mr. Kelly who had thought up such an idea and he said:

"The Russians."

I told him that had nothing to do with us but he snivelled and said that everyone knows we always follow the Russians in everything sooner or later.

"Mark my words," he added. "If the Kremlin thinks up something we will go along with it and if anuone dares to object he will be branded as a Fascist and a representative of a decadent democracy. Few of our lawmakers seem able to stand up under that."

Mr. Kelly said the Russians put the new system into effect in the Soviet sector of Berlin after a number of food shops had been burglarized. The reason is that the Russians found burglars hard to apprehend. But the victims are easily found.

"It says in the papers that proprietors of looted food shops are now subject to arrest, fine, a jail sentence and revocation of their retail license," said Mr. Kelly.

I MANAGED to calm our gallant seaman temporarily by feeding him a couple of seabiscuits, not including the horse, but he was soon off again on his topic.

"There is no telling where the thing will end," he moaned. "Supposing a gas station attendant is stuck up and plugged through his service uniform. They will probably arrest him for damage to scarce textiles and then present a golf cup to the stickup man for making a hole in one. And, if the victim makes a die of it, as they say in copper circles, they will probably charge him extra for overtime parking!"

Mr. Kelly continued to let his imagination run rampant.

"Supposing," he went on, "that you or some other innocent citizen—well, some innocent citizen—was walking along the sidewalk and a truck jumped the curb and heaved you over the fence into somebody's flower bed. Like as not, under this law, they'd pinch you for trespassing."

Mr. Kelly started on another hypothetical case of a gentleman who gets into a certain establishment by mistake but I will skip the details because Mr. Kelly has a disposition to go Rabelasian if not curbed.

"But what I would like to see most," he concluded, "is for one of those rich tax-exempt liberals to get his private yacht stolen and then get arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a pirate!"

A SINISTER THREAT, calculated to strike terror to the stoutest heart, has been made to Sen. Guy Cordon, of Oregon, by the turkey-raisers of his state.

The turkey men got together and served notice upon the Senator that he must do something, and right speedily, about getting food for turkeys or the consequences would be upon his own head.

"Feed is becoming scarcer and scarcer," they wrote. "Our turkeys keep sticking their necks out further and further for grain that isn't there. They are getting to look something like feathered giraffes.

"Unless we can get them food so they can pull in their necks we will have to kill them off.

"And that, dear Senator, means that we won't be able to send you a turkey for Thanksgiving!"

6-Month Nuptial Wait Proposed

NEW YORK, June 7 (INS)—Dr. Clifford Adams, head of Pennsylvania state's marital clinic, advocated a six-month waiting period—by law—between declaration of intention to wed and actual marriage.

Dr. Adams predicted that 24 million Americans now wed will end their partnerships in the divorce courts.

The marriage expert, writing in Pageant magazine, asserted three-fourths of those seeking divorces blame physical incompatibility. He also proposed inauguration of marriage preparation courses in schools, and franker exchanges of confidences between parents and children.

Western Railroad To Ban Diner Tips

CLEVELAND, June 7 (AP)—The Pere Marquette Railway said today it would become a "guinea pig" in an experiment to do away with a "tyranny of custom"—dining car tipping.

Road President R. J. Bowman said tipping would be banned June 10 and predicted the move would bring no dagger glances from waiters since the management had arranged to compensate for loss.

Dorchester Asks Beach Overhaul

At the request of Dorchester residents, Atty. William J. Fitzsimmons of Whitten st., filed a request today with Park Commissioner William P. Long for restoration of Tenean Beach, which Fitzsimmons described as "in deplorable condition and unfit for use."

"I found that much of the sand has been washed away, that pipes leading to the water fountain are exposed and present an unsightly blot on the area and a hazard to children."

Barrymore as FD Halted by Roosevelts

HOLLYWOOD, June 7 (AP)—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio announced Lionel Barrymore will not portray President Roosevelt in its forthcoming film, "The Beginning of the End," because the Roosevelt family did not approve casting him in the role.

The announcement said no reason was given for the family's disapproval.

Coming Out Party

By BETTY ALDEN

FIRST OF THE JUNE coming out parties takes place this afternoon immediately after Winsor School graduation when three seniors, Eleanor Burwell, Cynthia Lefferts and Beverly Butler share honors at a tea dance in the garden of the Butlers' home in Brookline.

The party is given by their mothers, Mrs. C. Sidney Burwell, Mrs. Halleck Lefferts and Mrs. Allan Butler. The debutante trio's summer plans are very gay. After a whirl of June teas and dances for their sister debs, Eleanor Burwell sails the 26th for France to work in a summer camp for war orphans, and shortly after Cynthia and Beverly are setting out for the cowboy country to vacation on a dude ranch. They are all going to college in the fall.

Gertrude Lawrence

PERSONAL PARCEL PARTY is the catchy name of the first big dinner dance of the Cape Cod summer social season. It will take place at the opening of the new Coonamessett Club Friday evening June 28th under the auspices of the Gertrude Lawrence Branch of the American Theater Wing which has a new and timely charitable activity called Personal Parcels Service.

The Service, organized by Miss Lawrence, brilliant and well-loved star of the London and New York stage, provides monthly packages of food, soap and other necessities to deserving English and European families selected by the Women's Voluntary Services headed by Lady Reading.

Proceeds of the party at the Coonamessett Club will benefit the Service and Miss Lawrence will be guest of honor to explain the workings of the charity.

Among the many distinguished patrons and patronesses are Mrs. Arthur Bell, Mrs. J. Mott Hallowell, Mrs. F. A. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin McD. Garfield, Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Fenno, Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, Sr., and Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Scaife, Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan, Mrs. W. Murray Crane, Miss Pauline Fenno, Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Platt, Mrs. Francis W. Bird, Mrs. Robert Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hallowell, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Kidder.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Rienzi B. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Porter B. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Freeman, Mrs. Henry H. Freeman, Mrs. John Hallowell, Mrs. Rudolph Weld, Prof. and Mrs. Bruce C. Hopper and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Traser.

Subway Garage Plans to Curley

Plans for construction of a privately-financed garage under Boston Common, authorized last month by the Legislature, today had the approval of Park Comr. William P. Long, who said they called for "the least possible damage" to the Common.

Estimating construction would take about two years, Long said he hoped to have the plans analyzed and ready for review by Mayor Curley on Monday.

The plans were submitted by W. J. MacDonald, Boston real estate man, who disclosed that a corporation, to be known as Motor Parks, Inc., of which he probably would be president, was in process of formation to construct the garage and its approaches.

Greek Bank Besieged For Gold Sovereigns

ATHENS, June 7 (AP)—Fire hose streams today dispersed a crowd outside the Bank of Greece seeking to buy gold sovereigns. The demand for sovereigns has been heavy for several days. The sovereigns sold in the Bank of Greece for 120,000 drachma while the open market price was 135,000 drachma.

House Readies Plan to Pay Vets for Unused Furloughs

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—The House, with manifest enthusiasm, today called up legislation to pay some 15,000,000 past and present servicemen an average of $250 each to cover missed furlough time.

Its backers, led by Reps. Dwight L. Rogers (D.) of Florida and Robert L. Sikes (D.) of Florida, predicted its passage without opposition and said the chances for early Senate approval look good.

The only amendment in sight was a non-controversial one intended to simplify payment methods. In preliminary form it would permit enlisted men entitled to terminal furlough money to claim it by mail, or collect it in cash at local Army or Navy offices.

Here's what the legislation will do if it becomes law:

1—Entitle enlisted personnel to a cash payment for furlough time not used up in service. Payment would be made at the time of discharge for those still in uniform, or immediately for those already back in civies. It applies to personnel who have served at any time since Sept. 8, 1939

2—Compute furlough time on the basis of two and one-half days for each month of service, with a limit of 120 days that may be accrued. Furlough time used up while in service would first have to be deducted.

3—Authorize the secretaries of War and Navy to make payments on the basis of sworn statements by the applicants.

4—Direct payments to next of kin in cases of men who have died.

5—Exempt the payments from taxes and from all claims of creditors.

6—Prohibit payment of cash in lieu of furlough time for all personnel, both officers and enlisted men, in future wars or national emergencies.

The legislation grew out of congressional demands that enlisted personnel be given the same privileges as officers in accumulating leave, or furlough time.

Pacifiers Call Sugar Talk

Federal conciliators called union and management officials into conference today in the strike of 13 drivers and helpers at the American Sugar Co. refinery in South Boston, which has halted truck deliveries of sugar in Greater Boston.

Rufus C. Folson, refinery manager, said union officials refused to attend a similar conference called yesterday by Chairman Charles H. Cole of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration.

The 13 men, who quit in protest against the discharge of union members by the comany, are members of the Teamsters' Union, AFL, Local 25.

Stomach Canyon

SELIGMAN, Ariz., June 7 (AP)—John Sicko is convinced it's easier to get around the canyons of New York city, from whence he came, than it is to find the end of a fence in the canyons of Coconino county.

Sicko, at work with a ranch fence repair crew, set out to find "the end of the fence." He was missing for two days until a search party found him, so hungry he ate: three large steaks, 12 sandwiches, a quart of milk, pot of coffee and several pieces of pie.

He never did come to the end of the fence.

Will Bacon Keep? Yes, With Caution

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

BACON is one of those meats that fits into any meal—at any time of day. Served with eggs, griddlecakes or waffles, it makes a delightful breakfast; in a salad or sandwich, a perfect luncheon; and with vegetables an ideal dinner.

The proper keeping of bacon is always a matter of concern to the homemaker, especially now when the saving of all fat, to allow for shipment to the starving overseas, is being urged by the President's Famine Emergency Committee. Every strip of bacon in the home needs to be kept and used with care so that none becomes rancid or "strong" in flavor and thus goes to waste.

Keep in Refrigerator

Unfortunately, many home cooks have the mistaken idea that bacon should not be kept in the refrigerator, and as a result, much bacon becomes unfit to eat. This idea apparently exists because most people do not realize that the commercially cured bacon on the market has changed in the last 10 to 15 years. Formerly, most bacon was of the salty type—the kind produced generally on farms by a longer and stronger cure. This saltier bacon can be kept, as it is on the farms, hanging in the air during cool weather. On the other hand, mild-cured bacon, which is the kind now generally selling in stores, is more like fresh meat and always should be kept in the refrigerator—and only for a few weeks after purchasing.

To Keep Mild Flavor

Mild-cured bacon is at best shortly after it has been smoked. Packers keep such bacon under refrigeration and sell it as promptly as they can. Homemakers should treat it accordingly. In storage, even in a good refrigerator, it loses the smoke flavor and gradually takes on a rancid taste as the fat breaks down. Rancidity is hastened by heat, light, contact with air and the salt in the fat. Therefore, keeping bacon cold and closely wrapped is an obvious way to hold back rancidity and keep freshness longer.

The keeping of saltier, home-cured bacon on the farm is a different story. Such bacon usually is used up through the winter, spring and early summer if stored at air temperature. If necessary to hold it through warm summer weather, freezing storage is best. Rubbing smoked bacon with salad oil will delay rancidity and also help keep down the mold which tends to form on the surface. This mold may give a stale flavor but rarely makes the bacon unwholesome to eat. Usually if it is scrubbed off promptly, the flavor of the bacon will not be affected.

Potato-Bacon Salad

4 cups diced, hot potatoes
8 slices crisp bacon, crumbled
12 stuffed olives, chopped
1 pimiento, chopped
2 tbsp. chopped chives
½ cup salad dressing

Mix thoroughly and let stand until cold. Serve in salad bowl lined with salad leaves, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Spaghetti a la Brazil

1 pkg. spaghetti
4 slices bacon, diced
2 medium-sized onions, sliced
1 1-3 cups (No. 1 can) tomatoes
2 green peppers, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
½ cup sliced stuffed olives
1 tsp. sugar, salt and pepper
½ cup grated Italian style cheese

Cook spaghetti until tender. Saute bacon until crisp; remove from pan and saute onions in the bacon fat until golden brown; add tomatoes, pepper and garlic, and simmer for 10 to 15 minutes. Add spaghetti, bacon, olives, sugar, and salt and pepper to taste. Heat thoroughly; serve on platter and sprinkle with cheese. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BACK IN 1860 when King Mongkut ruled a harem . . . his women were garbed in lavishly embroidered hostess costumes. In a modern version of same . . . Bonnie Cashin has designed this stunning black satin and lime crepe fetching twosome for exotic presentation in 20th Century's picture, "Anna and the King of Siam" . . . copies of which will hit the fashion marts very soon. The harem skirt . . . buttoned inside the left ankle . . . in insinuating wrap around snugness at the waist contrasts with the high-necked all-in-one sleeves and bodice for an interesting display of body.—R. A New Personal Beauty Tidbit

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

WHAT WOMAN doesn't like to treat herself to something real nice once in a while? We can't expect to be gifted all the time with all the choice and luxurious items we read and hear about. And when we want it truly . . . we go out and get it for ourselves.

In our own little schedule of predictions of things to come . . . we predict that a haunting fragrance . . . new to the new world, but famous in the old . . . is a personal beauty tidbit that will receive welcome and hearty acceptance once American women have tried it.

Renowned for years among the elite of world capitals . . . and the recipient of the highest awards when exhibited in Paris and Rome . . . it has been a fastidious woman's distinctive selection since 1868, when it was first established in Europe. The noted beauties on the continent created their own halo of loveliness with this fragrance.

Now that it has been brought to America . . . it bids fair to receive similar acclaim. We don't need tell you that it is a most discriminating scent . . . a fragrance that doesn't "smell" up a room the moment you enter . . . but exudes an elusive haunting fragrance that's both subtle and select.

It comes in perfume . . . various-sized bottles . . . in cologne . . . in an exquisite dusting powder luxuriously boxed with a white silk satin cover and containing a big lamb's-wool puff . . . and in a fine body sachet that caresses the figure with the feeling of rich distinction.

And it isn't too expensive. Matter of fact . . . the purse-sized flacon can be had for only $1.25 . . . a sort of trial bottle to introduce you to the continental delights of old-world beauty and fine sophistication. It is the kind of fragrance that makes you hold your head high . . . walk proudly and beautifully like a queen surveying all she beholds. It practically forces you to live up to a distinctive personality . . . to be in tune with this proud, prize-winning scent.

For the name of this new to the new world, famous in the old world fragrance, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ANOTHER PREDICTION . . . one of Lily Dache's . . . is this high wrapped turban of gold velvet with lunettes of gold and pearl embroidery . . . an evolution of the "waspnest" turban of 1926 . . . and which La Dache introduces as a 1947 head-hugger to come . . . and she's not "talking through her hat." A perfect counterpart for this haunting chapeau is a haunting fragrance . . . new to the new world, famous in the old.

Still Hopes to Win Girl

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHY MUST some people be practically hit over the head before they're willing to recognize that some particular man or some individual girl doesn't want to take them seriously?

In the following letter, for instance, "E. C." complains that he can't figure out what the girl he wants is trying to do.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I've been going with a girl for a year now. She is the kind of a girl a fellow dreams of settling down with. I love her very much, and she said she liked me, that any girl would be glad to get me, and that I would meet some nice girl. That burns me up, when I only wanted her.

"She met a fellow who was in the armed forces. Just before he came home, we had a tiff and broke up. It seemed to me that she just used that as an excuse. Well, when he came home they went around together, but they broke up.

"So I called her up, with the idea of going out with her again, but she seems to keep stalling me off. I don't know what she is trying to do. I ask her if she wants to go out with me any more and she says yes, but she keeps putting if off. She keeps telling me what she did this night and where she went and what she intends to do the following night, but there seems to be no free night for me.

"Yet I feel I still have a chance with her."

Well, E. C., it seems to me you are just kidding yourself along when you say you feel you still have a chance with her, for, if that is so, she'll make it perfectly clear by accepting your invitations instead of continually declining them. And if she does keep on declining them, then, no matter what else she may say, you ought to take it as a purposeful hint that she would rather you didn't pursue her. It's a hard thing to do when you're in love with a girl, but you ought to have too much masculine pride to do anything else.

Use a Dash of Red

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THERE are a lot of printed suits around, and they are good summer styles. There are also some very good suits that have a printed jacket and a plain skirt, suits that many of our most distinguished dressers prefer. A printed jacket can do an effective job of squiring your simple one-color dresses as well as being part of your smart suit.

I have picked out one of the best of these mixed suits to show you. This is a model from Carrie Munn, and is the very breath of fashion. The jacket is made of black and white checked rayon, and the skirt of black crepe. A blouse of white organza, trimmed with black lace completes the harmony. A red handbag and red gloves add the one touch of brilliance.

The Correct Thing

How To Self-Ration Bread Sensibly So More Wheat Can Go Abroad

Deny Yourself—You Can Do It Safely— But Don't Deny Your Children Because They Need the Growth and Energy Provided by Good Bread

Hunger knows no boundary lines. Famine respects no flag. Death draws no color line.

Some countries have food. Some just don't have enough.

This is not a matter of race or creed or political belief.

It is this: shall those who have, share even their slender store?

The heart of America has spoken: we will share our wheat that millions in Europe and Asia shall not starve.

Already shipload after shipload has been sent. Even more is now on the high seas.

To do this, your government has ordered flour milling cut 25%. Naturally, this means less bread for America.

The logical thing to do, of course, is to buy less bread and cut down on the bread you eat.

Deny yourself bread, but don't deny your child. Your child is entitled to his just share of bread. In order to have the well-balanced diet his growing body demands.

Because good bread provides 8 elements the growing child needs for proper, normal development of body and mind. And for energy, for work and play.

Illustrated below are the 8 ways Wonder Bread helps build strong bodies for children. Naturally, you want your child to have these 8 advantages.

You want your child to have his rightful share of Wonder Bread. And by practicing self-rationing, every father and mother can see to it that their children get it.

And, at the same time, play their part in saving bread so that more wheat can be sent abroad to halt the spread of famine there.

We repeat: practice self-rationing in your home. Deny yourself bread, but don't deny your child.

You'll be glad in your heart for doing it.

Merry Macs At RKO Boston

The RKO Boston is rolling with another smash show which has for its finale show-stopper, the Merry Macs, who sing of "Onion On The Side" and luscious Lucious Beebe with impartially melodic merriment.

The Merry Macs, consisting of the two McMichaels, Judd and Tedi; Lynn Allen and Virginia Reese, opened up with that great number, "Great Day Coming," followed with "Manana," "Onion," and "Laughing On The Outside." But it was with difficulty that they carried on in the face of the thundering applause.

Their comedy number about Local-Boy Beebe, whos is Manhattan's glass of fashion and including what goes into which glass when and where, was hilariously received. Next there was some boogie woogie and for a windup, the quartet's most popular hillbilly song, "Pass the Biscuits, Mirandy."

Easing in on roller-skates, the Lightning Trio, sensational stars of the recent "Skating Vanities," opened this top-drawer stage show with some of the niftiest spins and whirls ever effected between skate and stage. Two fellows and a girl make up the trio, and the girl might be a rubber-dolly the casual, heart-stopping way her partners toss her about. But they always catch.

The juggling Val Setz, back from three years overseas with the USO, makes with the rubber ball, Indian clubs, even uncoaling himself as he balances hat and cigar. It is in the best of the hand-is-faster-than-the-eye tradition and had us fooled no end.

Artie Dann, whose clowning up and down the keys has been the toast of the town's niteries, added a long, new list of Dann addicts to his fan club membership with yesterday's opening-show. He sings "Lord, You Made the Nose Too Long" and other numbers, gives an impression of Jimmie Durante and has the customers in the palm of his hand from scratch.

The brown-skinned Berry Brothers, in top-hatted elegance, do spinners and hand springs in the course of a dancing spree that was another program bell-ringer.

"Badman's Territory," the RKO Radio picture that boasts most of the baddies of the Frontier West's early days, remains a second week on the RKO Boston screen.

Western Film at Par-Fen

By PEGGY COYLE

For a Western which spares neither the horses nor such indispensable elements as slick direction, photography and settings, we give you Republic Pictures' "In Old Sacramento," now making the Paramount and Fenway screens two of the most actionful in town.

Before you jump to any hasty conclusions, be advised that "In Old Sacramento" is no "Stagecoach." Its plot is as routine as its strong, silent hero. But when did lack of orignality or obviousness rule out a Western if the production was all-wool and at least 36 inches wide?

Joseph Kane has given Frances Hyland's screen play a generous and thoughtful production and his direction has kept it moving briskly throughout. Another selling argument is the fresh charm of photogenic Constance Moore, who can also sing to your ear's content.

The plot stems from the killing of Johnny Barrett's young brother by some gold-claim jumpers. To avenge the lad, Johnny becomes "Spanish Jack," who holds up all the gold-carrying stage coaches leaving Sacramento to get back the lost gold.

He loves the beautiful and pure cabaret-singer but sacrifices their future happiness together to die a hero's death at the trigger-finger of the local sheriff.

William Elliott, who used to be billed as just plain Bill in former cowboy roles, is cast . . . or should it be cast-iron? . . . as the valiant who two-times as a bandit. He plays it as if rigor mortis had already set in. Eugene Pallette's sheriff is a heavy in more ways than one, his weight at the time of the picture's shooting being 304 pounds.

Ruth Donnelly's companion-maid to miss Moore has a comically tart quality. Lionel Stander and Hank Daniels turn in capable performances.

For a co-feature, there is "Cinderella Jones," screwball comedy that just misses being a musical, or let it go at just misses.

The co-starring presence of Joan Leslie and Robert Alda and the lavishness of this Alex Gottlieb production may outweigh the escapist-ad nauseam tone of the story.

Merry Macs At RKO Boston

The RKO Boston is rolling with another smash show which has for its finale show-stopper, the Merry Macs, who sing of "Onion On The Side" and luscious Lucius Beebe with impartially melodic merriment.

The Merry Macs, consisting of the two McMichaels, Judd and Tedi; Lynn Allen and Virginia Reese, opened up with that great number, "Great Day Coming," followed with "Manana," "Onion," and laughing On The Outside." But it was with difficulty that they carried on in the face of the thundering applause.

Their comedy number about Local-Boy Beebe, whos is Manhattan's glass of fashion and including what goes into which glass when and where, was hilariously received. Next there was some boogie woogie and for a windup, the quartet's most popular hillbilly song, "Pass the Biscuits, Mirandy."

Easing in on roller-skates, the Lightning Trio, sensational stars of the recent "Skating Vanities," opened this top-drawer stage show with some of the niftiest spins and whirls ever effected between skate and stage. Two fellows and a girl make up the trio, and the girl might be a rubber-dolly the casual, heart-stopping way her partners toss her about. But they always catch.

The juggling Val Setz, back from three years overseas with the USO, makes with the rubber ball, Indian clubs, even uncoating himself as he balances hat and cigar. It is in the best of the hand-is-faster-than-the-eye tradition and had us fooled no end.

Artie Dann, whose clowning up and down the keys has been the toast of the town's niteries, added a long, new list of Dann addicts to his fan club membership with yesterday's opening-show. He sings "Lord, You Made the Nose Too Long" and other numbers, gives an impression of Jimmie Durante and has the customers in the palm of his hand from scratch.

The brown-skinned Berry Brothers, in top-hatted elegance, do spinners and hand springs in the course of a dancing spree that was another program bell-ringer.

"Badman's Territory," the RKO Radio picture that boasts most of the baddies of the Frontier West's early days, remains a second week on the RKO Boston screen.

Western Film at Par-Fen

By PEGGY DOYLE

For a Western which spares neither the horses nor such indispensable elements as slick direction, photography and settings, we give you Republic Pictures' "In Old Sacramento," now making the Paramount and Fenway screens two of the most actionful in town.

Before you jump to any hasty conclusions, be advised that "In Old Sacramento" is no "Stagecoach." Its plot is as routine as its strong, silent hero. But when did lack of originality or obviousness rule out a Western if the production was all-wool and at least 36 inches wide?

Joseph Kane has given Frances Hyland's screen play a generous and thoughtful production and his direction has kept it moving briskly throughout. Another selling argument is the fresh charm of photogenic Constance Moore, who can also sing to your ear's content.

The plot stems from the killing of Johnny Barrett's young brother by some gold-claim jumpers. To avenge the lad, Johnny becomes "Spanish Jack," who holds up all the gold-carrying stage coaches leaving Sacramento to get back the lost gold.

He loves the beautiful and pure cabaret-singer but sacrifices their future happiness together to die a hero's death at the trigger-finger of the local sheriff.

William Elliott, who used to be billed as just plain Bill in former cowboy roles, is cast . . . or should it be cast-iron? . . . as the valiant who two-times as a bandit. He plays it as if rigor mortis had already set in. Eugene Pallette's sheriff is a heavy in more ways than one, his weight at the time of the picture's shooting being 304 pounds.

Ruth Donnelly's companion-maid to miss Moore has a commically tart quality. Lionel Stander and Hank Daniels turn in capable performances.

For a co-feature, there is "Cinderella Jones," screwball comedy that just misses being a musical, or let it go at just misses.

The co-starring presence of Joan Leslie and Robert Alda and the lavishness of this Alex Gottlieb production may outweigh the escapist-ad nauseam tone of the story.

Plea for Putnam By McCormack

Cong. John W. McCormack, House majority leader, called on Democratic voters in the State today to cast their primary ballots for former Mayor Roger L. Putnam of Springfield in the June 18 contest for the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

"I feel strongly that a balanced and representative ticket will be for the best interests of the Democratic party next fall," McCormack declared. "The nomination of former Mayor Putnam will be a decided help in that direction for otherwise the entire State ticket will come from Greater Boston.

"I am making a fight for the principle of fair representation and a balanced ticket. Former Mayor Putnam is well qualified and men of his type should be encouraged to seek office."

Bread Famine Hits Franklin Park Bears

The bread famine has spread to the Franklin Park zoo. The bears will have to go without one of their daily mainstays after tomorrow. The bears ordinarily consume about 400 pounds of stale bread a day.

Travel Awards To 4 Art Pupils

Four traveling scholarships were awarded today at commencement exercises of the Boston Museum School held in Garden Court of the Museum of Fine Arts.

David Aronson of Glenway st., Dorchester, was awarded the James W. Paige Scholarship of $3000 for study of painting in Europe. John Wilson of Tremont st., Boston, was given a similar award, deferred from 1944 because of the war.

Other awards went to Marjorie A. Keary of Roosevelt rd., Newton Center, and Claire J. Brown of Squanto rd., Quincy. Both call for study of painting outside the United States.

Russell T. Smith, head of the school, awarded the prizes and diplomas. The address was by Richard M. Bennett, architect and critic at Yale Architectural School.

ROBBED OF PANTS, $7900

CHICAGO, June 7 (AP)—Two young gunmen, dressed in flashy sport clothes, stole the pants and the $7900 contained in wallets found in them from four men at the McLean Motor Sales Co. yesterday.

So Pirates Threaten To Strike—Then What!

By AUSTEN LAKE

SWEAT IS A VULGAR WORD! Gents perspire! Ladies glow! Yet nonetheless major league baseball is having a good, soaking sweat over the Pittsburgh Pirates' threat to strike tonight's ball game with the New York Giants unless the magnates sign a union contract. And suppose they strike! Then what!

Austen Lake

The Pirate management will have the choice of three alternatives: (1) to submit to union dictates, (2) to close the park and stop the players' pay, (3) call on a team of strikebreakers. And suppose they do the latter. It's been done before!

The scene was Shibe Park in midsummer of 1912. The president of the league was Ban Johnson, the pesky old Roman who had plastered Ty Cobb with a money fine for knocking a pestiferous fan stiff the preceding day. The Detroit players maintained that the plaster was unfair since this was an especially obnoxious fan, and unless the fine was refunded they would strike. So Johnson said, "All right, go ahead and strike." He stated by telegram that no fan, not even an obnoxious one, should be knocked stiff. The fine and suspension stood!

Jennings Recruited Team

MY INFORMANT IN THIS instance is Jack Onslow, the former Braves' scout and ex-radio commentator, who was catching for Detroit at the time. And Jack told how the Tigers reported in uniform and partook of pregame batting so as to prevent the management from substituting strikebreakers from the surrounding twilight leagues. So just as the press box bell sounded game time, they walked off in a body, hung their uniforms in the locker room and retired to seats in the grandstand.

"It was very entertaining" related Onslow, "because our manager, Hughey Jennings, promptly recruited a fresh team by calling for candidates among the bleacher fans. And after some harangueing he collected an odd lot of kids and middle-aged volunteers of all sizes and shapes, who put on the Tiger livery and came out looking very baggy and bulgy.

"It was a most agreeable afternoon, with the makeshift athletes losing ground balls down their bloomers and letting hot line drives roll to the outfield to cool off. The score was 26 to 2 in favor of the Athletics and everybody had a good time."

But Jack related that the Detroit regulars had an attack of remorse during the night and went back to work the next day because they took pride in their work. But he said that if they had decided to stay on strike, Ban Johnson was preparing to draft spare players from the rest of the clubs and put the strikers on his black list.

Pittsburgh was chosen as the first show-down site by the present union organizer, Robert Murphy, because Pittsburgh is one of our most union-conscious cities. And that is so! Because shortly before the war the University of Pitt football team staged a modified sitdown strike and demanded a "wage-and-hours" program as its price for working in the Rose Bowl game on New Year's day.

The Pitt varsity voted a three-point issue based on the CIO premise that a worker is entitled to a fair proportion of the fruits of his toil. So they demanded (1) a cash guarantee of pocket money up to $200, (2) that the entire squad of 56 members be included in the Coast trip instead of only the regulars and (3) an immediate vacation of two weeks to compensate for the loss of their Christmas holidays.

The Pitt athletes argued that their eastern football championship was earned by honest sweat and if they were obliged to work overtime on a football job like the Rose Bowl, which at a conservative estimate would net the University $75,000 as its share of the turnstile profits, they were entitled to the same wage considerations as any post-hole digger, bricklayer, coal miner or general pick and shovel worker.

BULLETIN

PITTSBURGH, June 7 (AP)—Rip Sewell, "blooper ball" pitching specialist of the Pirates, expressed belief today that an all-Pirate team would be recruited to play the Giants tonight despite the threat of some teammates to strike.

"I think we can get enough players right on the team to play," declared Sewell, first member of the team publicly to identify himself as a nonmember of the American Baseball Guild, which has called the strike.

Who Pays the Freight?

THE ISSUE DIDN'T GET to the Labor Relations Committee in Washington to decide because the Pitt University authorities settled the matter abruptly by cancelling the Rose Bowl bid. That left nothing to argue about. But it may give Robert Murphy the germ of a bright idea after he finishes organizing major league baseball. Because there are football colleges around the country who are just as emphatically in the amusement business for profits as the professional Pirates.

And lest you think the government takes no interest in athletic matters I will submit that some time since Washington uttered an official judgment that professional wrestlers are NOT indentured employes, but free and self-determined artists and therefore not subject to old age levies on their earnings or workmen's compensation for injuries sustained during their performances.

The Pirates threat to strike tonight's job reveals the shocking, ugly truth that major league ballplayers are not actually the home-town heroes and idols they pretend to be, and to which our sport pages contribute many columns daily to help the deception. The strike threat shows them as journeymen toilers who hire out their loyalties to the town whose name they wear on their shirts and are neither more nor less loyal than the size of their pay check.

So presently, when and if the major leagues are fully unionized with higher wage floors all around, it may be necessary for the magnates to boost the price of their bleacher and grandstand seats in order to stay out of the shadow of the sheriff. In which case the gullible, loyal, sentimental public will get it in the much mangled portion of their anatomy known as the neck. Which may destroy some of their illusion and loyalty as being too one-sided, and keep them away from ball games in large numbers. Which will force the magnates to employ less players and make the dischargees very sore at Mr. Robert Murphy, the union organizer for doing them a very bad turn.

Sox Hope for New Umps In Series With Tigers

By FRED HOEY

With the fervent hope that a new set of umpires be assigned to Fenway Park, fans today waited the Red Sox-Detroit series which opens tomorrow with a single game and follows with a Sunday twin bill. After the umpiring exhibition by Messrs. Pasarella, Rue and Weafer in the Browns series, it is very evident that something new has been added to the A. L.

Umpires are bound to err. This is part of the game. But when three arbiters are consistently bad over an entire three-game series it becomes something serious. This observer always has been a staunch defender of umpires but after yesterday's weird display we wonder if we have followed the proper course.

The Sox won the ball game so our piece is spoken without the alibis. Though the Browns suffered severely, the Sox came in for their share of poor verdicts.

Situations similar to that in the finale, can develop into something really menacing, especially if the home Sox are getting the bad end of poor decisions before thousands of pennant-starved New England fans who have been waiting since 1918 for another Boston flag.

It is likely that Tommy Connolly, umpire-in-chief of the A. L., will break up this trio and re-assign them.

Umpire Rue

Not since the days of John McGraw and his blustering New York Giants of 35 years ago have we observed umpires so roughly handled.

It all revolved around a play at first base. With two down and the bases loaded in the fourth, Hal Wagner shot a grounder to Babe Dahlgren, the Brownie first baseman. Babe lost it and it rolled a few feet behind him. He made a fast retrieve and pegged to pitcher Kramer who covered the bag.

Ump Weafer ruled Wagner safe. The entire St. Louis team charged on Weafer. Meanwhile, in all the commotion, both Rudy York and Dom Di Maggio scored.

Then followed a spectacle, the like of which hasn't been witnessed in many years, if at all. First, Pitcher Kramer chucked the ball over the outside wall behind first base.

He went after Weafer and bumped him all around the first base sector.

Weafer ordered Kramer out of the game and Jack returned to the St. Louis bench only to come roaring out again in the direction of Weafer. It was fairly apparent that his motive probably was to take a swing. But Coach Freddie Hoffman and other Brownies intervened and prevented any more trouble.

Then came the crowning one of the entire squabble. It was ruled that DiMaggio had to return to third base because time had been called. Maybe it was, but it would be hard to convince nearly 20,000 fans of this fact.

Red Sox bench sources informed us that Weafer had called time as he was being pushed around by Kramer. If this is so, then Woburn Hal is fast on the reflex for DiMaggio was right on the heels of York when he scored.

This silly decision sent Joe Cronin haywire. Joe did lay down the law to all three umpires.

These flare-ups and umpire-baiting issues actually ruined what was developing into a real swell ball game. Both Charlie Wagner and Kramer were pitching superb ball. To be sure, Kramer began to go a bit sour in the fourth with two down. Then his run-in, and he was out of the game.

On the other hand, Wagner looked grand. In the four innings he operated, Charlie allowed two runs and five hits. But Charlie gave way to a pinch hitter Johnny Lazor in the fourth. Mace Brown took over and got along well until the ninth when Walt Judnich homered with one on to make the score dangerously close. After Zarilla reached on Brown's error, Dave Ferriss was called in to extinguish the St. Louis fire. He did a masterful job, getting Dahlgren on strikes and Mancuso on an outfield fly.

Kramer Faces Fine, Suspension; Tigers Tomorrow

Steve O'Neill with his crack Tiger pitching staff will be in Saturday and Sunday. Those Tiger hurlers are great but the team lacks Red Sox strength in other departments if it expects to challenge the Red Sox threat . . . It would be irony if the Browns reached Philly today and found Rue, Passarella and Weafer there to umpire the A's series . . . Many fear Jos Kramer is due for a heavy fine and possible suspension for his actions yesterday . . . Luke Sewell was on the warpath all afternoon. As though his early protests weren't sufficient for one day, he charged that York juggled the ball on the Dahlgren ground-out to Pesky in the seventh

When those Sox all get hitting together, it's just going to be too bad. But Newhouser, Trout, Trucks, Overmire and Hutchinson of the Tigers probably are too good to expect such a miracle like this to happen in this coming series . . . Thousands of young lady employees of the John Hancock Co. viewed the game from the grand stand. The actual paid attendance was 19,131, with 572 service men . . . Believe it or not, a foul ball rebounding out of the hands of a young fellow in the stand landed in the hands of a young lady. She showed no hesitancy in shoving out her dukes for the apple . . . Dom Di Maggio tried to steal home in the big fourth, but was an easy out when Pitcher Johnny Miller made a perfect pitch to Catcher Frank Mancuso . . . Dom made a grand catch of Zarilla's long fly in the seventh, 415 feet from the plate.

Joe Grace played a brilliant right field for the Browns. His perfect one-hop throw to Dillinger in the first nailed speedy Pesky trying to reach third on Williams' sharp single to right . . . We can't find anything wrong with Rudy York's fielding. He can do tricks with that mitt of his. Rudy, by the way, made one single and walked twice . . . Good guy to have around! . . . Too bad Jack Kramer exploded mentally in that hectic fourth. It looked like a great battle between Jack and Charlie Wagner . . . Williams drew one intentional pass to supplement his three hits . . . That bad man Doerr certainly is back on the range . . . Popular Bobby had three for six bases . . . Fortunately for the three little men in blue, Tommy Connolly, umpire-in-chief, was busy elsewhere . . . Prize award of the week goes to Weafer who alleges he called time as he was being pushed around the diamond. Hal might easily have called for help . . . Those Brownie battles were bitterly fought. The Sox can ill afford to hold any team in the loop cheaply.

Musial Refuses Mexican Offer

ST. LOUIS, June 7 (AP)—Stan Musial, star left fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, has definitely rejected the latest offer for his services by the Mexican League, he disclosed last night just before the Red Birds took the field against the Boston Braves.

The young Bonora, Pa., athlete gave his answer to the Mexican loop representatives, Alphonso Pasquel and Mickey Owen, former catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Musial declined to reveal the amount offered him to play in the Mexican League, but admitted "it was a lot of money."

Pep 10-6 Choice to Win Over Bartolo in Title Go

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, June 7—Sal Bartolo, up off the streets of East Boston, will battle to win the world's featherweight championship when he meets Willie Pep of Hartford in a 15-round bout in the New York Garden tonight. Bartolo, a former All-America amateur champion, went on to win the NBA featherweight crown. Pep has held the New York title, and as a result tonight's tussle will decide which of the little ring kings is entitled to rule his fistic class throughout the world.

Sal Bartolo

Pep, who will be striving to gain his 100th ring victory, is a 10-to-6 favorite to win. Pep has been the most consistent boxer in the game. Sammy Angott is the only mitt flinger who ever was able to gain a decision over Pep.

It will be the third time Pep and Bartolo have met. Both of the previous contests were held in Boston. In a 10-round overweight match at the Boston Garden, Pep won a close decision. This contest was staged by the Goodwin Club.

Pep later went under the Eddie Mack banner and defended his title against Bartolo at Braves Field. With his championship at stake, Pep did not take the reckless chances he did in the overweight match. He made it a safety first bout, and won every one of the 15 rounds.

Bartolo has shown better fistic form since then. In recent bouts in Boston, Bartolo has shown improved boxing and sharp punching power. Sal is at the peak of his fistic career and he is confident he will win the world's title tonight.

A special train will bring the Pep rooters here from Hartford, while there will be many fans from Greater Boston at the ringside rooting for Bartolo.

Three Title Bouts

THE PEP-BARTOLO bout is the first of three world's championship matches that will be staged by Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Club this month. On June 19 Joe Louis will defend his world's heavyweight crown against Billy Conn at the Yankee Stadium, and on June 28 Bob Montgomery will risk his lightweight title in the Garden against Al Stoltz.

The top price for tonight's bout will be $12.50 while the low will be $2.50. This price scale is a contrast to the $10 to $100 range for the Louis-Conn bout.

Boxing is going along merrily here, and it is expected that each of the three title shows will show a good profit.

Louis-Conn Interest

THE DEMAND for tickets and the large crowds at the training camps indicate the huge interest in the Louis-Conn bout. It is expected that by early next week the advance sale for the heavyweight bout will have passed the $2,000,000 mark. The $1,800,000 mark was reached a few days ago.

With only a limited number of $100 tickets left, the public has turned to the lower price tickets which grade from $50 to $10.

Johnny Ray, manager of Billy Conn, told this writer that a Pittsburgh businessman paid $1000 to get two tickets in the third row. The ticket agencies have ended up with their usual supply of tickets and are getting fancy premiums for them.

Priest 10-8 Over Blackwood

By RINGSIDE

Al (Red) Priest is a 10 to 8 favorite to win from Joe Blackwood in their ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tonight. Both boxers are in the best possible condition and are expected to furnish a stirring ring engagement for what is expected to be a near capacity crowd.

Priest is the hottest ring attraction in New England. He has personally sold $7000 worth of tickets for tonight's bout which places him on the same plane as some of the old-time local favorites like Jack Sharkey, Jim Maloney, Al Mello, Dick Finnegan, Eddie Shevlin and Chick Suggs who sold thousands of dollars' of tickets for the shows in which they took part.

Jimmy Cagney, who is in Boston in connection with a new picture that is being filmed at Boston College and the Liggett estate in Chestnut Hill, will attend the bout with members of his party. Cagney is an enthusiastic boxing fan.

It will be the second meeting between Priest and Blackwood. In their last bout, honors were about even going into the seventh round. Priest then made a serious attack and won by a kayo.

Priest, the aggressive puncher, expects to stop Blackwood again. The latter is a fast, shifty boxer and the master of the bolo punch. He is confident his skill, speed and sharp hitting will enable him to win from Priest as he did from Joey LaMotta.

Blackwood first held LaMotta to a draw and, in a second bout, won easily.

Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Club will sign the winner to take part in his middleweight tournament which will start following the Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano title battle on July 25.

The semi-final of eight rounds should be jammed with action with Larry Pacino of Roxbury colliding with Johnny Johnson of Philadelphia. There will also be three six-round bouts.

Priest and Pacino are former All-America champions as is Sal Bartolo who battles Willie Pep in New York tonight for the world's featherweight title.

Saved From Minors By GI Bill, Now Star

Delmer Ennis, rookie Phillies' outfielder, who was saved from the minors by the GI Bill of Rights, has risen from virtual obscurity to become one of the most prized chattels in baseball today, according to the Associated Press.

The 20-year-old flychaser—he reaches his majority tomorrow—whose organized baseball experience is limited to one year with Trenton in the Class C Interstate League in 1943, took the big jump from the Navy to the Phillies and made good right from the start.

Reported in April, Ennis was slated for another year or two in the minors. The GI bill, however, provided that no returned serviceman could be sent to the minors without first being offered to other major league clubs. When Ennis was placed on the waiver block, five clubs immediately put in a bid for him, and Manager Ben Chapman hurriedly withdrew the feelers.

The home-spun Philadelphia youngster who cut his first baseball tooth in one of the local high schools, appeared in his first major league lineup April 30, acquired his first hit in his initial time at bat, and since then has gone through 33 games failing to hit safely in but six of them. He's currently hitting a cool .333 to rank fifth in the league. Among his 41 basehits are 13 doubles and four home runs.

Ennis bashed out four blows yesterday to pace the Phils to a 9-3 triumph over the Reds for the Quakers sixth triumph in their last eight games. Two of his hits were doubles to place him in a tie for the most two-base hits with St. Louis' Stan Musial. He also drove in a pair of runs to help drive Cincy's Joe Beggs off the hill for his initial setback of the year.

The high-flying Dodgers increased their National League lead to 4½ games—their largest of the season—when they outslugged the Guild-minded Pirates, 13-8, as the Cardinals were beaten by the Braves, 9-5.

Scoring nine runs in the fifth inning, the Dodgers had their hands full until the final frame when the Bucs came back to within two runs, but a three-run burst in the ninth downed the Pirates for good.

The Yankees made it three in a row over the White Sox when Red Ruffing, the 42-year-old veteran pitched the Yankees to a 4-0 triumph for his 269th win of his 21-year-old big league career. Manager Bill Dickey, who was celebrating his 39th birthday, knocked in two runs.

A pinch hit home run with the bases full by Frank Secory in the 12th inning gave the Cubs a 10-6 victory over the Giants. Once again, Chicago's Hank Borowy failed to go the route as he blew a 6-0 lead when the Giants tallied three times in each of the eighth and ninth innings to tie the game and force the contest into overtime.

Summerproof your Hair with Vitalis

here's how,

Use Vitalis and the 60-Second Workout

You know what summer does to your hair.

Hair-shielding scalp oils get baked out by sun, dried out by wind, washed away by water. You wind up with a thatch so dull and brittle that only a porcupine could envy it.

But not this summer. For now that Vitalis is back, you can "Summerproof" your hair, give it a fast weather-beating workout that'll keep it protected and you handsome!

1. Before you exercise—50 seconds to massage Vitalis on your scalp give Vitalis' pure vegetable oils a chance to help natural scalp oils protect your hair... no matter what you do. Then, 10 seconds to comb... and, brother, you never looked better!

2. After you exercise—repeat. This time Vitalis and the "60-Second Workout" help replace the protective oils you lost under the sun. Feel that stimulating tingle as you work Vitalis on your scalp, routing loose dandruff, helping retard excessive falling hair. So...comb. You're handsome enough to whistle at. Start with Vitalis today ...and let the weather take a beating this summer!

All-Ogg Final Looms in W. G. A.

By BILL GRIMES

Mrs. Paul G. Black, Marshfield, and Mrs. Willie Howard, Wellesley, may tip over the apple cart in the semi-finals but, from what we've seen, it looks like an aunt-niece of the Ogg family from Worcester will meet for the WGA championship tomorrow at the Charles River Country Club.

Mrs. George R. Norby, Wachusett, ("Auntie") is playing Mrs. Black, and Mrs. Donald K. McClusky, Worcester Country Club, ("niece") is out with Mrs. Howard today.

The quarter-finals were keenly contested, one match going two extra holes, two finishing on the 18th green, and the other winding up on the 17th. The quarter-finals also marked the end of all of the pre-championship favorites.

Mrs. John Grew, the 1933 and 1941 titleholder, was on the short end of a 1 up match with Mrs. Norby and Miss Rosamond "Pinky" Vahey, three time winner of the title, dropped a 1 down decision to Mrs. McClusky.

While the Oggs were disposing of the two former champions, Mrs. Black was eliminating Mrs. Henri J. Prunaret of the home club and Mrs. Howard was disposing of Mrs. C. F. Bartholomew.

With the exception of Mrs. Northy, none of the semi-finalists has ever weathered more than two rounds in a state championship. Mrs. Norby was beaten by Mrs. Warren Beard, the duration champion, in the 1942 semi-finals at Brae Burn. She is the Worcester County titleholder.

Mrs. Black was a semi-finalist for the fifth time in the state juniors at Weston but was beaten by Miss Margaret Ogg, a sister of Mrs. McClusky. She has been playing golf for eleven years, starting at the age of 14. Her father, Dr. Fred Bailey, a former Tufts College athlete, was her first golf instructor. Until a few years ago, the Baileys, who reside in Jamaica Plain, played their golf at the Plymouth Country Club. Then they joined Marshfield where they spend most of their week-ends.

By a strange coincidence, Mrs. Black's mother, who was Miss Fanny Braun before she married Dr. Bailey, was a neighbor, during her teens, of Henry H. Lynch, a former president of the Marshfield Country Club, around W. Rutland sq., in the South End. Her uncle, the late Harry Gorden who came from the middle West, was one of the best semi-pro pitchers in the state around the turn of the country, and the "ace" hurler of the old Clovers.

So Mrs. Black comes from a family of athletes, which may account for her ability to hit iron shots like a professional, and also her coolness under fire. She lost only two decisions during the team match campaign of the Southern District, one to Miss Vahey and the other to Mrs. W. G. Dow. She was the only player to beat Mrs. Bartholomew in a team match this spring.

Although she was the Worcester County champion the year "Aunt Julia" didn't compete, Mrs. McClusky has never gone beyond the second round in a state titular event. However, this year she has come through with flying colors in three close matches. She eliminated Mrs. J. S. Amory, Jr., Myopia, 1 up; Cynthia Richardson, Highland 2 and 1; and "Pinky" Vahye, 1 up.

Mrs. Howard made her debut in WGA championships at Charles River back in 1929, as Miss Dorothy Bryant. She posted a 93 in the qualifing round. She has been put out of three championships in the quarter-finals and was beaten in the third round at Belmont by the late Miss Grace English, at Brae Burn by Mrs. W. G. Dow, and at Charles River by Mrs. John Grew, when she was the medalist.

B's Play Reds In Night Game

CINCINNATI, June 7—With a little more pep than they have been having since taking to the road, the Braves arrived here today to meet the Reds under lights tonight.

The cause of the lift in spirits was the Tribe's victory over the Cardinals in the series' finale. Though the pitchers carried the load in other losses, the Braves sluggers outdid themselves by belting out 16 hits while winning, 9-5.

Spotting the Cards a 5-2 lead, the Tribe pounded Pollet and Dickson for five runs in the sixth. Nanny Fernandez and Mike McCormick hit homers in that big inning.

Bill Posedel, who succeeded Singleton on the mound, got credit for the win although Steve Roser, who followed him to the hill, pitched the last four innings, holding the Reds scoreless on one hit. "General" Bill Lee was Billy Southworth's mound selection to face Reds' Huesser. Both hurlers have the same record, 4-3.

Lucky Pilot Tops In Dog Schooling

Winner of two straight schooling races at Wonderland, Ray Holmes' sensational speedster Lucky Pilot, loomed today as the certain pre-race favorite to cop the twelfth renewal of the Wonderland Inaugural, spotlight race on opening night, Friday, June 14, at the Revere track.

During the winter season at the Florida tracks, Lucky Pilot compiled a record of 12 victories in 16 starts. Oddly enough, the Holmes-owned greyhound either won or ran out of the money. Never during the winter did Lucky Pilot place or show. He either won easily or failed to get part if the purse.

Also being talked as probable starters in the Inaugural are Tungo, E. J. Quinn, Bad Behavior and Shivers, all of whom have schooled in near record time.

EX-MILE KING JOIE RAY

DeMar Gives Ray Urge to Run Again

EAST GARY, Ind., June 7 (AP)—Chesty Joie Ray, once the hardest working distance runner in American history, is laboring harder than ever now at the age of 52.

This amazing little man, who competed in more than 900 amateur races at distances from one to 26 miles and proudly wore the United States colors in three Olympic games, today is tirelessly toiling at three jobs to get sufficient money to pay off a mortgage on his little farm home and develop a small nursery business.

At a time when most men are easing up, Ray cannot quit. Now a grandpa, he lives with his wife on eight acres a mile east of this Hoosier village.

He works eight-hour shifts in a Gary steel mill, takes care of a small herd of milk-producing goats and bustles about his nursery with the idea that it will provide his income in his declining years.

"I'm in love with the job of tending to the flowers, shrubs, and young trees," Ray says. "I hope to give it all my time as soon as I aquire ownership of the property. That won't be long. Then I'll say good-by to the mills."

Ray, only five feet, five inches tall and weighing 152, looks and dresses like a farm hand. His complexion is ruddy and wind-burned. He wears a cap, spectacles and heavy work shoes and lugs a dinner pail.

In his palmy days, Ray ran the mile 65 times in 4:20 or better during 19 busy amateur years from 1910 through 1928. He was the first American clocked at 4:12 indoors. From 1917 to 1925 he held virtually all records from 1000 yards to 10 miles. He was the greatest drawing card of his time.

Stomach ulcers, which failed to respond to prescribed treatment six years ago, prompted Ray to raise goats for their milk. He lived on a daily diet of three quarts of goat milk and crackers for a year. The ulcers disappeared. Now Ray can eat onion sandwiches and anything else, but he eats no meat. His standard fare is two quarts of milk daily, vegetables and fruits. He does not smoke or drink.

Ray began to develop wind and limb at the age of 9 in his native Kankakee, Ill. He delivered newspapers and the route became so big he had to run to complete it. He entered his first race at 13.

He got a tremendous kick out of accounts of the recent Boston marathon in which 58-year-old Clarence DeMar competed. Ray defeated him in a New York marathon in 1928 after finishing third to DeMar, who ran the Boston event a few weeks earlier.

"DeMar gives me the urge to get back in there again," Ray remarked with a grin. "I should be running now."

Sox Far Ahead Of Cubs Record

NEW YORK, June 7—What chance have the Boston Red Sox got to establish a new modern major league percentage and games won record? With almost one-third of their schedule completed and with their percentage this morning standing at a flat .800, the powerful Bosox must be conceded an excellent chance of setting two new records.

With the first week in June virtually gone, the Bosox have won 36 games and lost only nine. No other club in modern major league history has compiled such a record at this comparatively advanced stage of the race.

Back in 1906, 40 years ago, the Chicago Cubs won 116 games and lost only 36 to set a modern major league victory and percentage record with .763. In racking up their victory and percentage marks the Cubs did not get off to an overly impressive start. They won 10 and lost six games in April. By the end of May they were one game away from .667 with 29 triumphs and 15 defeats.

Of their first 44 games that went to a decision, the Red Sox won 35 and lost nine. Actually, the Bosox at this stage of the race are six games ahead of the Cubs in their record-breaking year.

The Cubs established their records by playing almost unbeatable ball in the last two months of the season.

28 Schools Compete in NE Meet

By MIKE GILLOOLY

As the schoolboy baseball teams continue to battle for places in the Eastern state championships in the big league ball parks next week, school track and field men—a grand total of 228 of them from 28 high and private schools—will be swinging into the New England Interscholastics tomorrow afternoon at Brookline Field at 1:30 p. m.

Only three schools have been definitely named for the Writers' Tourney, Newton, Somerville and Boston English, but the field should be complete over the weekend.

Brockton and Durfee High Schools will meet on a neutral field in Taunton tomorrow afternoon with the winner to qualify. Today, there may possibly be a settlement of the Essex County circuit with Lynn Classical in front of the field. Then there's a play-off due in the Catholic League for an opening, with still the Middlesex League, the Southern Conference and the independent teams to be considered.

The winners will take over Braves Field Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, shift to Fenway for the semifinals Thursday and remain at the home of the Red Sox for the wind-up on Saturday. State finals will be played at Holyoke on June 22.

Meanwhile, Director Ralph Colson has lined up one of the most attractive schoolboy track programs in the past 10 years for the Brookline field tomorrow afternoon and he actually broke his arm in doing it. He'll be wearing his arm in a sling as he revives the New Englands as the result of a crack-up with a tennis racquet—whatever he'd be doing with such a weapon in lining up a track and field convention!

Incidentally, he's making no secret of the fact that he's somewhat disappointed in the list of entries. He has Cheverus High of Portland, Me., sending three boys, but New Hampshire and Vermont have failed to respond. As a result, the Bay State boys will have the going very much to themselves in as classy a line-up as the Red Sox could field.

Practically every state champion from the recent meet in Newton, from both classes, will be in the running to provide plenty of keen competition. There'll be no distinction in classes so that Andover's clever team will be giving the local aces plenty of fight for top honors. Only private school athletes who have graduated from high school courses will be ineligible.

As a result, the 220, 440 and 880-yard runs should be pips.

In the 220, Dave Neville, Brandeis Vocational, will have to top Saul Quint, Newton, Scott Paradise, Andover, Murray Pearlstein, Brookline, and Bill Goldberg, Camb. Latin. The 440 will match Vin Muscato, Concord, Al Dell Isola, Everett; Red Stoltmann, Andover, Bill Delaney, Central Catholic, and Jack Abrams, Lowell. The half-mile will pit Matt Malloy, Rivers, Carl Joyce, Boston Commerce, Tom Kirwan, Winchester, and Jim Kinney, Lowell.

The outstanding athlete in the meet will be awarded a pair of nylons . . . Andover's Norman Nourse will probably win the shot - putting with the 12-pounder . . . then, he'll give an exhibition with the 16-pound pill . . . he'll undoubtedly be one of Andover's entries in the Junior National Interscholastics in Texas June 29-30 . . . nine schools have filed relay teams.

Boston English's Win Briggs edged B. C. H.'s Dick Shellenback, 3-2, to send the Blue and Blue nine back into the baseball tourney . . . Briggs will probably be Coach Bernie Kilroy's mound choice for the opener of the series . . . the old "squeeze" play decided the game for English.

Distribute Fly-Tying Kits Among Vets' Hospitals

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Our long-awaited fly-tying kits finally arrived from The Workshop Associates, at Needham, and they are being distributed to fishing enthusiasts at various veterans' and servicemen's hospitals, through the courtesy of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser's Disabled Veterans' Fund, which was made possible by readers. Kits have already been given to boys at the Chelsea Naval Hospital, the Murphy Regional Hospital, Waltham; Cushing General Hospital, Framingham; and we'll visit the U. S. Marine Hospital, Brighton, tomorrow.

Interest in the art of angling is great among veterans, many of whom must spend long periods of hospitalization before they will be able to enjoy some fishing. Listen to this letter from Bill DeGonda, a former patient at Chelsea Naval Hospital, now transferred to another institution:

"A week ago I thought it was next to impossible to enjoy myself as much as I have since receiving the swell gift from you and the Boston American. Once again I wish to thank you for the fly tying kit, and I'm sure every fellow that receives one will enjoy it as much as I have.

"Using the book, 'How to Tie Flies,' I have enabled myself to turn out some fairly nice looking flies. I've made several so far, and I feel quite proud of myself." . . . Hope you catch some fish with 'em soon, Bill!

CLUB CHATTER: A newcomer to the ranks of Massachusetts sportsmen's clubs is the Essex County Beagle Ass'n, Beverly, which now numbers 50 members, according to Frank Duest. "It seemed to us," he said, "that most of the other clubs put out too many fish and not enough game, so we plan to purchase and release as many birds and rabbits as possible."

The organization intends to enroll members from all of Essex County, providing they are interested in game. One does not have to own a dog.

ANGLING ANGLES: While in Ossipee, N. H., last week, we were told about the group of anglers, who were seeking trout on a chilly morn, at Pine river. One of the men spied a chap on the other side of the stream, wearing what appeared to be a bearskin coat. "Didn't know 'twas that cold," he commented. "It isn't," declared a companion. "That's a black bear."

All striper fishermen will be interested in an announcement to be made later this month . . . Watch for it in this column!

2 Games Tonight In City League

Two games, Neponset T. T. vs. St. Lazarus at Noyes Park, East Boston, and the Colored Giants vs. Brighton Catholic at McKenny Field, Brighton, are scheduled for tonight in the Hub City Twi League.

The league-leading Cassidy Post, A. L. won its eighth straight, 4 to 3, last night against Neponset. The Colored Giants took sole possession of second place with an easy 12 to 4 victory over Brighton while the Armstrongs' 5 to 0 whitewash over the Blue Sox sent that team into a five-way tie for fourth place.

Championship Bout on WCOP Tonight

Two champs lay their golden kellys on the line at Madison Square Garden tonight for undisputed feather title honors. Willie Pep (above), Hartford, recognized by New York and some other states, meets NBA claimant, Sal Bartolo of Boston.

Confusion in the 126-pound class arose when Henry Armstrong relinquished his title in 1938. The New York Commission and NBA disagreed on a successor and have since recognized different champions.

Pep won his title by defeating Chalky Wright in 1942; Sal earned his by stopping Terranova in 1944.

Tonight's match brings together two of the most skillful boxers in fisticuffs. Bartolo may be the sharper puncher, but it's hard to nail Pep.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WCOP (1150 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

Remember, men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!
